20 GIs Enter Hospital At Valley Forge

Freed POWs End Secrecy-Shrouded Flight From Tokyo

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Twenty tired American GIs recently released by the Communists in Korea, arrived by plane at Valley Forge Military Hospital early today after a long secrecy-shrouded journey from Tokyo.

The men, four of them stretcher cases, were given steak dinners, allowed to call relatives from mobile telephones brought to their bedsides and then settled down for a night's rest.

They left Tokyo Thursday in a C97 Stratocruiser and were flown directly to Travis Air Force base, near San Francisco, bypassing Honolulu.

First word of the flight came when the men debarked at Travis and one of the patints was transferred to Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

An Air Force spokesman said the Pentagon had ordered security conditions placed on the trip because the men had been "victims of Communist propaganda."

Maj. James Campbell, public information officer at Valley Forge, said, however, the main reason for the security measures was "simply that the men were both tired and ill and all had expressed a desire not to be interviewed."

"Some of the men may have come under the influence of Communism," Campbell said, "but the study of such cases has been limited and not conclusive. It would be unfair," he added, "to brand a whole group of men in such manner."

"All of these boys are ill," Campbell said. "All are suffering vitamin deficiencies, indicated by pains in their legs and the poor condition of their teeth and gums."

"Two of the litter patients have lung conditions and two have foot ailments, which causes them to walk with difficulty," he added.

"All will be given the same thorough physical and mental ex-

Miss McAfee, Teacher of 30 Years, Dies

Cerebral Hemorrhage Follows Illness Of Five Months

Miss Rachel C. McAfee, 61, a teacher at Harding High School more than 30 years, died at 7:30 a.m. today at 270 Cummins Ave., the home which she shared with Miss Edith L. Brown, also a Harding High School instructor. She was ill five months.

When she was stricken suddenly this morning, the inhalator squad from Central Fire Station was called and worked 10 minutes in an unsuccessful attempt to revive her.

Cause of death was given as cerebral hemorrhage.

Born Dec. 13, 1891, at Philadelphia, Pa., she was a daughter of the Rev. Thomas Hugh McAfee and Mary Amanda Boyer McAfee, the father a native of Washington, D. C., and the mother of Philadelphia. The Rev. Mr. McAfee was pastor of Trinity Baptist Church here from 1915 until 1923.

A graduate of the Findlay Academy, Findlay, O., Miss McAfee went for training in physical education work to the College of Physical Education at Chicago, Ill. She attended Ashland College at Ashland, O., where she earned a KENTON — Two persons were killed and a third is in critical condition in Mary Rutan Hospital at Bellefontaine as the result of a traffic accident at intersection of State Routes 273 and 292, five miles west of Mt. Victory at about 10:15 a.m. today.

The dead were listed by the State Highway Patrol as:

Robert Moore, 18, of Urbana and Roy Weber, 67, of near Zanesfield.

Identification of the critically injured man had not been positively made as of noon today but it is believed he is the son of Mr Weber.

State Highway Patrolman Thad Miller reported that Moore was driving a Kirby Hatchery Co. of Urbana truck east on Route 273 and the other car was headed south on Route 252 when the collision occurred.

Moore was rushed to Hardin Memorial Hospital at Kenton where he was pronounced dead on arrival by Hardin County Coroner Dr. H. R. Johanson. He said Moore suffered a fractured skull, broken right arm, and multiple cuts of the face and body.

Weber died from a compound fracture of the skull, the state patrol reported.

At noon today, the other victim of the accident was still in surgery after more than an hour at Mary Rutan Hospital. Reports indicated he is near death.

State Patrolman Miller had not completed his investigation of the accident and had not determined whether Mr. Weber or the man believed to be his son was driving the car in which they were riding.

Both the car and the truck were extensively damaged, the patrol reported.

Tornadoes Rip South Again, 7 Die

Two-Day Toll Hits 25 in Alabama, Georgia Districts

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Spring tornadoes roaring through the South for the second straight day killed seven persons and left at least 12 others injured yesterday in Alabama.

The deadly funnels of destruction danced along a 60-mile path in North Central Alabama, striking a shattering blow near Ashland where all the dead and most of the injured were counted.

The Alabama tornadoes struck one day after Warner Robins, Ga., was ravaged by a twister that left 18 dead. Between 250 and 300 persons were injured there, and damage was estimated at 15 million dollars.

Two Highway Patrol officers saw a tornado appear near Calera, 33 miles south of Birmingham.

"We watched it form and begin to pick things up," related W. L. Allen. "When it got too close to us, we ran like hell."

A Negro mother and child were injured and "four or five" homes levelled in this section before the raging winds bounded toward the East.

The storm smashed a cluster of homes near Ashland just as night fell, killing seven persons in three family groups.

One-Day Recess In Talks Called At Reds Request

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists asked today for a one-day recess in the Korean truce talks after naming four Asian nations they consider qualified to take custody of war prisoners who refuse to go home.

The Allies agreed to skip tomorrow's session.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said India, Pakistan, Burma and Indonesia might be considered neutral nations to serve as caretaker for 48,000 prisoners who balk at returning to their communist homeland.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison reiterated the Allied position that the neutral take custody of the prisoners in Korea until their future is decided.

Asked whether any of the four Asian nations named by the Reds would be acceptable, the senior Allied delegate said:

"That is a matter to be settled on levels far above mine."

Washington officials were quoted as saying it was possible the United States would accept either Pakistan or India as the neutral to take custody of the prisoners

Derby Crowd Near 100,000 At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The probable starting field for the 79th Kentucky Derby was reduced to 11 today when Spy Defense was withdrawn from the three-year-olds' turf classic.

Meanwhile, early arrivals of an expected crowd of more than 100,000 turned Churchill Downs into a festive scene.

Post time for the derby is 4:30 p. m. EST.

Mutuel windows began selling derby tickets shortly after the gate opened at 8 a. m., but for the most part the early betting was on more lightly - regarded horses and was of the $5 and $2 variety.

A hot sun beat down on the early arrivals. The forecast has been possible showers up to noon with clearing skies. But there was not a cloud in the sky.

It indeed was a perfect setting for the favorite Native Dancer's supreme test. It was his chance to show up those experts who had said he can't carry his speed the derby distance of a mile and a quarter and chalked up his 12th victory.

Caledonia Set For Dedication Of New School

Dedication and open house ceremonies of the new $250,000 Caledonia elementary school will be held Sunday in the school auditorium.

Dedicatory services will be completed by the address, "Important Trends of Our Day," by the Rev. Dr. Karl P. Meister. Meister, a Caledonia native, is now executive secretary of the Board of Hospitals and Homes of the Methodist Church, with offices in Chicago.

The program gets under way at 2 p.m. with a concert by the 40-piece Caledonia School band under the direction of Mrs. Paul Showers. At 2:30 p.m. the dedication ceremony is scheduled to begin. It will include two selections, "Lonesome Cowboy," a Mexican folk dance, and "Prayer Perfect" by Stensen, by the elementary school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Showers.

Superintendent to Speak

Welcome will be given by D. T. Mills, Marion County superintendent of schools, and presentation of the school keys to Forrest Hipsher, president of the Board of Education, will be made by Harold Steward of the Steward Construction Co., the general contractor, and Harry Brumenshenkel of Mansfield, the architect.

Open House will be observed following the dedication ceremony and the public is invited to inspect the new school.

The new school, located directly across from the old school building, includes six large classrooms and a large combination auditorium-gymnasium, in the center.

Building in Use

Students started school in the new building in February and the auditorium and gymnasium has been used for basketball games, the Senior class play, and other activities.

High school and grade school students had been sharing the old building previously and in addition the second and third grades attended school in the Universalist Church there. The old and smaller gymnasium and auditorium is still being used for physical education classes and by various organizations and community groups.

Playgrounds, swings, slides and other playtime facilities will be placed in back of the building shortly along with athletic fields with facilities for baseball, basketball, volleyball, football and other sports.

The bodies of Moore and Weber were removed to the Sherman-Mackey Funeral Home at Mt. Victory pending notification of the families of the two men.

Music Week Observance Is Scheduled in Marion

By ELAINE BALLINGER

Extensive plans have been set up in Marion for observance of National and Inter-American Music Week, beginning Sunday and continuing through the following Sunday. Mrs. Lewis Wills is the general chairman.

Received here this week was the proclamation of Governor Lausche for observance of National Music Week in Ohio. In his call for recognition of the week, he directs attention to the fact that since its first observance nationally in 1924, the project to stimulate musical interest and progress has made its way into more than 4,000 communities. He terms it "proper and fitting that there be public recognition of the place of music in American life" and praises the aim of the week "to spread more widely the enjoyment of music" and music itself in its contribution "to the cultural and social advancement of all people." A proclamation in Marion has been issued by Mayor Robinson, as well.

Week's Keynote

Keynote for the week this year is "Enrich Your Life With Music." In a statement as local chairman, Mrs. Wills said, "Certainly the citizens of Marion have many opportunities to enrich their lives with music not only during Music Week but throughout the whole year with the Ohio Federation of Music Club groups here functioning as they do in both senior and student activities.

MRS. LEWIS WILLS
General Chairman of Observance

"Marion can also be justified in its pride of our music in the schools, our Harding High School Choir, band and orchestras, and looking forward to our wonderful new high school building where even greater musical activities are possible. With the state festival just held in Delaware at Ohio Wesleyan, the accent has been on youth in music. Our high school musicians, groups and soloists, have participated with honors. Marion is truly musical. Through our Community Concert series we are privi-

The YMCA Board of directors at a meeting Thursday night authorized purchase of furnishings for the new YMCA building to low bidders at an approximate cost of $66,000.

The board also approved operating policies of the new Y, approved an operating budget, and discussed plans for dedication of the new building, Arthur L. Haas, general secretary of the Y, reported.

Bids for the furnishings were received on April 25 and purchases were awarded Thursday. A list of the low bids is now being compiled and will be announced next week. Bids for the furnishings had previously been estimated to approach an approximate figure of $71,000.

Physical education, aquatic group work, and dormitory policies were formulated and approved for the operation of the new Y, and an operating budget of approximately $70,000 per year was approved. Yearly budget used in operating the present Y building is $43,000 Haas said.

Dedicatory ceremony for the new Y will be scheduled around mid-July or the first part of August, according to present plans of the board, who selected Ralph Carhart to head the dedication committee. Carhart will announce the members of his committee next week.

His appointment and that of Robert Humphreys as the committee's publicity chief were announced Friday by chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Baumhart, 45, also will be chairman of a new special activities group designed to consilidate divisions for minority groups, workers, farmers, veterans and women.

He served one term in Congress in 1941-42 as representative from the 13th Ohio District, resigning to join the Navy in World War II.

He was assistant to Ohio GOP State Chairman Ray Bliss of Akron in the 1950 campaign of Sen. Robert A. Taft. He also had served two terms in the Ohio Senate, and resigned recently as a member of the Ohio Development and publicity Commission.

U.S. Puts New Emphasis On Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A shift of diplomats and plans for a high-level tour emphasized today the Eisenhower administration's declared interest in the Middle East.

Two countries from that area—India and Pakistan—were receiving special attention as possible nominees for the task of supervising prisoners of the Korean War who refuse to go home. Informed U. S. authorities said that, while no firm policy decision had been made, the U. S. might agree if the Communist truce negotiators nominated either Pakistan or India.

President Eisenhower accepted yesterday the resignation of George C. McGhee as ambassador and chief of the U. S. aid mission to Turkey, effective June 20. There were reports Avra M. Warren, career diplomat who is being re-

Hearing Thursday

Charges of the strong-arm robbery of A. W. Lares of 522 E. Church St. early Friday were filed against two men in Marion Municipal Court today.

Paul H. Waycaster, 32, of Columbus and Charles R. Wilson, 37, of Chicago both entered not guilty pleas in Municipal Court this morning. Judge Hazen set a hearing date for next Thursday and set bond for each of them at $2,500.

Wilson and Waycaster were arrested at 2:28 a.m. Friday about 25 minutes after Lares was robbed by two men in an alley north of E. Church St. and east of S. High St.

Lares was walking east on E. Church St. when, he said, the two men came up behind him, grabbed his arms and forced him to accompany them to the alley. There they took his glasses, wallet and cigaret lighter. After taking $2 from his wallet they returned it and his glasses and released him, he said.

Lares accompanied police in a search for the men and spotted Wilson and Waycaster as they walked west on W. Center St. near Union St. He identified them as the men who robbed him.

The charges against the two were signed by Lares and alleged they took $2 and a cigaret lighter from him by force and violence.

Unable to post their $2,500 bonds Wilson and Waycaster were committed to the Marion County jail today pending the hearing next Thursday.

29 Months in Red Prison Camp "Million Years" to Freed Yank

LEOMINSTER, Mass. (AP) — Cpl. Donald Legay returned home early today after an absence of a million years.

Behind him, in fact if not in memory, were 29 months in Communist prison camps in North Korea.

As the car rolled over the last few miles in a driving rain, the 23-year-old soldier suddenly became very talkative. Until then he had been quiet—tired and numbed by the frenzied wave of receptions which engulfed him in San Francisco three days ago and swept him on to Boston and New York.

He rode with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Legay, and two younger brothers, Joseph and James, and sister Gloria. He had yet to be reunited with his closest brother, the one he had shared the double bed with so long. That's Airman Richard Legay, 19, who is stationed at Keesler Field, Miss.

As the car lights picked out familiar sights in the darkness, Donald began to perk up.

"That factory still make suspenders?" he asked.

"Sure does," his mother said.

"I see they haven't straightend out this crooked old road yet."

"Donald, did we have the drive-in theater when you were here?" his mother asked.

"Sure. Don't you remember the night I . . ."

The conversation was quickening, ranging lovingly over many things.

"Wasn't it along here that we in Korea.

However, informed sources said the U. S. had no firm policy other than that Sweden and Switzerland were acceptable. The Reds already have rejected Switzerland. The U. N. suggested Sweden Friday, but the Communists did not reply.

The Communists asked the one-day recess without explanation after a bitter 65-minute meeting.

Meanwhile, the U. N. Command—following a fanatical, clothes-ripping demonstration at Panmunjom by a band of hard-core Red repatriates—warily prepared to wind up delivery of disabled North Korean and Chinese prisoners Sunday.

A total of 185 Reds, including 21 women, will be returned, making the final total 6,670. That's roughly 800 more than originally promised.

Nam repeated at the opening of today's session the Red demand that the U. N. first agree to send balky prisoners out of Korea before the neutral custodian is named.

He insisted, however, that "it is obviously impractical" to ship captives to far-away Europe.

"There are many neutral nations in Asia such as India, Burma, Indonesia and Pakistan. Can you possibly say that these neutral nations are not suitable?"

Nam said it would put a neutral in an "embarrassing position" if it were not first decided to ship prisoners out of Korea. This also would be true, he said, if the Allies refused to agree to a nation named by the Reds.

Harrison said it was "impractical" to ship prisoners "overseas," but added:

"The only difference between movement to Europe or an Asian country is the short period of actual travel on the sea. Yet you would make these few days a vital matter."

The only "reasonable solution," Harrison declared, was to keep prisoners in Korea until their fate is ironed out.

After discussing Switzerland and Sweden as possible neutrals, Harrison told the Reds if they wanted to make progress in the talks they would agree to either nation—or name one themselves.

The Reds asked for the recess after accusing the Allies of showing no effort to speed the talks.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, at a meeting of liaison groups handling the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, for a second straight day demanded the return of "more than 375" Allies.

He said the Allies had "indisputable evidence" the Communists still hold these prisoners and that they wanted to come home and were fit to travel.

Daniel said the figure was based on incomplete questioning of Allied prisoners returned last week.

The Reds again turned down Daniel's appeal, saying all disabled POWs in their possession had been returned except some not able to travel.

The Reds returned 684 Allied soldiers, 84 more than promised.

Roll Jordan, Roll—

Negro spirituals not written, they just happened

NOBODY KNOWS the name of the church. Nobody knows the preacher's name. Nor does anybody know the exact date. But somewhere in the South, probably during the 1850s, a Negro preacher stood in his pulpit and read from the 37th chapter of Ezekiel, "The hand of the Lord was upon me," and the congregation unanimously agreed, "Yes!" The preacher read on, ". . . The spirit of the Lord set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones." He paused and the worshippers shouted "Hallelujah!"

"The bones were dry," the preacher read on. "Dry bones!" the congregation echoed. From the 10th verse the minister continued, ". . . And the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet!" Then, raising his arms, he assured his hearers, "Dry bones gwine t' rise again!"

The congregation took up the chant, "Dry bones gwine t' rise again . . . dry bones gwine t' rise again. . . ." And a spiritual was born.

Until the middle 1800s the Negro worshipped in the white man's church where he sat in specially provided galleries. Rolls of older churches in the South still bear names of both colored and white members. Some old church buildings still exhibit their "slave galleries." It was here the Negro learned to sing, line by line, the hymns of the white man.

By 1850 the Negro had his own church building and his own colored preacher. Here he sang hymns from memory. When he couldn't remember all the lines, he repeated the ones he knew. And he made his own songs from passages of Scripture and sang them to his own music.

Picking up a phrase that struck him, he broke into the preacher's sermon with a repetitious chant. As one old "Mammy" put it, "Dey'd all take it up and keep at it, and keep a-addin' to it, and den it would be a spiritual."

Most spirituals can be easily traced to Biblical passages. The Book of Kings tells of Elijah's chariot. Hence, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Revelation tells of the "book of life." Thus, "My Name's Been Written in De Book of Life."

Isaiah says, "And the moon shall not cause her light to shine." Thus, "De Moon Refuse to Shine." The River Jordan is mentioned many times in the Bible and is therefore mentioned many times in the spirituals. The Negro stands on Jordan's banks, crosses over Jordan and watches Jordan roll.

And so, set apart from the formality of the white man's church, the Negro made and sang his spirituals. The notes were not written down in the methodical manner of the white man. The words were not metered out by any formula.

The spirituals were neither signed nor dated. In the years just prior to the Civil War and the turn of the century, they just happened. But they are as firmly a part of the American music as the most scholarly composition of the white man. If that seems an over-statement, perhaps you never heard a well balanced group of Negroes sing such spirituals as:

Roll Jordan, roll, roll Jordan, roll
I wanter go to heav'n when I die
To hear ol' Jordan roll
Roll Jordan, roll, roll Jordan, roll,
I wanter go to heav'n when I die
To hear ol' Jordan roll.

Oh, brothers you oughter been dere,
Yes, my Lord,
A sittin' up in de kingdom
To hear ol' Jordan roll.
Roll Jordan, roll, roll Jordan, roll,
I wanter go to heav'n when I die,
To hear ol' Jordan roll.

Christ Is Relevant

A Sermonette

By THE REV. FREDERICK W. LEECH
Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church

The New Testament, the Church, teaches that Jesus Christ was God: as much of God as could be expressed in a human life without destroying its humanity. In Christ, God is at work.

If this is true, Christ is the clue to all life and its problems. His way is God's way. No other way will work. We exist for God: God doesn't exist for us. The world exists for God's purposes, not ours. He created it. We did not. When we try to twist life to make it serve our purposes instead of God's, we get into trouble. An automobile is made to travel roads, not swamps. If we drive into a swamp we get stuck. It will not do what it was not made to do. Neither will life. Life will work out only one way and that is God's way. If a man or a nation chooses another way (no matter how successful it may seem for a time) it will not work.

We've all seen people who have taken attractive, downhill roads which are not God's ways. But we have never known any who have found the promised liberty or joys. The goods advertised are never delivered. What we have seen is many of those people struggling to come back, slowly, painfully, on a road once so easy downhill; but now is steep, rocky, uphill. As L. Weatherhead writes, "All who travel ways that are not God's ways find self-loathing and remorse; frequently a shattered body; often a shattered mind; and always a much shattered soul."

People say, "Why doesn't God do something? Why doesn't He speak?" What thunderous Divine revelation do they want?

What can speak more powerfully than our present world confusion? Some people think God gives a man cancer for not saying his prayers, or lets a baby die to teach a woman to go to Church. Jesus opposed that heresy long ago. God does not need to hand out such arbitrary penalties. He has so arranged life that if we act in defiance of His laws, we prove their existence and their power, to our great sorrow, dismay and confusion.

People talk about "breaking" the laws of God. But we cannot break them. By our disobedience we only prove them. If you walk off a cliff, you do not break the law of gravitation. You only prove it. If you violate laws of health, you do not break them; you only prove them. If you violate laws of purity and follow selfish pursuits to their heart's content, but that does not alter the fact of God or move by one hair's breadth His Eternal Throne. Every human heart must bow before Him at the last, for "the Lord God omnipotent reigneth."

We dislike to hear unpleasant things. People laugh uneasily, shrug their shoulders, as did the men of Babylon and Egypt and Rome and the rest of the fourteen ancient civilizations whose ruins are still being dug out of desert sands. As one writer says, "God's workshop floor is littered with the broken instruments that snapped in His hands, and which He discarded because He could no longer use them. We may be watching the whole of our Western Civilization snap in God's hands at the time He wanted it most." Proud, boastful men forget that God does not exist for nations, but that nations exist for God.

Yes, the state of our world, our lives, should be ample proof that God is: that we cannot break His laws—they break us, and that Jesus Christ is relevant to our times.

What shall we then do? We know the answers. Turn to God in Christ, in repentance, seeking His help in prayer and sacrament: remind ourselves of His laws of love and forgiveness: seek His help to live those laws in our lives, and to win others to them. Then may we go forward together, in faith; unafraid; our eyes uplifted to the hills, "whence cometh our help; for our help is in the Name of the Lord."

you do not break them; you prove them by your resulting illness or disease. So i an individual or a nation sets out on a way that looks bright with promise, but is opposed to the laws of God, the laws are not broken. We only break ourselves on them. Those unchangeable laws are part of the Divine Mind. At the point where we are disobedient, we suffer.

So the confusion, distress, frustration in which we find ourselves are eloquent witness to the power of the laws of God's universe. They witness that there is a God; that in the life of every man and nation run those unchangeable Divine Laws, stronger than granite, older than the stars, more powerful than the atom. God's purposes run through the texture of every life. All life is on His loom and the final pattern will be what He wills; not what we plan. People may stop going to Church and saying their prayers; scorn Christian-

Confident Living

How Parents Can Handle A Handicap

By Norman Vincent Peale

Elizabeth, my 10-year-old daughter, has always been a fan of the motion picture and television cowboy, Roy Rogers, and his lovely wife, Dale Evans. It was she who first attracted my attention to their movies and TV shows and I must confess that I soon began to enjoy them as much as she did.

Then, when they came to New York to appear in the rodeos at Madison Square Garden, I wa pleased to see them in my congregation at the Marble Collegiate Church on Sunday mornings. Both Elizabeth and I enjoyed meeting them and were impressed by their dynamic personalities. Then we went to see them at the Garden and were thrilled to hear Roy sing his favorite song, "Peace in the Valley," half ballad and half hymn, and to listen to him tell the children in his audience: "I hear some kid says it is sissy stuff to go to Sunday School. Don't you believe him. Sunday School is for he-men." This cowboy seemed to be a more effective preacher than most of us whose profession it is.

DR. PEALE

This fall, when they were in New York, Roy and Dale came to see me and told me a true story of their own lives which was both moving and tragic. And now Dale Evans Rogers has put this story into a little book which seems to be reaching the hearts of people everywhere just as it touched mine. Over 100,000 copies have been sold to date and I am sure that many more will be.

The book is "Angel Unaware" and it is the story of Robin Elizabeth Rogers, daughter of Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, who came into this world with a tragic handicap and left it after a brief stay of only two years. But it is more than the story of just one handicapped child and her parents. It is the story of how love and faith and religious belief enabled this set of parents to meet a problem that faces many mothers and fathers each year.

I DO NOT KNOW how many handicapped children are born annually, but I am sure that each of us knows of such cases in our own circle of friends and acquaintances, if not in our own families. Why a loving God should permit innocent children to suffer twisted bodies and warped minds is hard for most of us to understand, but when we must face the problem personally, it becomes even more difficult.

Because many people have not only faced the problem but have been able to summon the courage to write about it, we can, from their experience, assemble a set of rules about handling the problem of a handicapped child. Dale Evans Rogers is the most recent of these authors; others include the novelist, Pearl Buck; the famous "inside" man, John Gunther; and Marie Killilea, one of the founders of the movement to help victims of cerebral palsy.

IF THIS IS YOUR problem, these are things you should remember:

1. Resolve to accept the child and give it the "tender, loving care" to which every child is entitled. No institution can substitute for a parent's love.

2. Remember that God does not visit the sins of the parents on their children. If you have a sense of guilt about such a situation, go to your pastor, priest or rabbi and work out your problem with him. Free yourself from the sense of guilt by acknowledging your past errors and resolving to start over with a clean slate.

3. Faith and prayer can improve your situation and, if necessary, prepare you to accept the loss of your loved one. Read books such as "Angel Unaware" and Marie Killilea's "Karen" and see how other parents have found in their religious faith the only sure courage and confidence in handling a handicap.

The Bible says "the greatest of these is love." Keep this love in your heart and you can meet any problem a parent need face.

Guppies Recommended Over Birds and Bees

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — Dr. Leon Whitney, Yale pathologist, has suggested that the "immodest midget fish," the guppy, is better for teaching the facts of life to children than the birds and bees.

Whitney said thousands of children learn their first facts of life from their tank guppies. He said the aquarium in which they live might be described as a submarine delivery room.

Social Security Payments Show 35% Increase

Social security payments totaling $77,718 went to 1,945 people in Marion County in December 1952, according to Paul D. Snider, manager of the Marion social security office. This was an increase of 34 per cent over payments at the end of 1951. Benefits paid in other counties served by the Marion office were: $32,571 was paid to 904 people in Delaware County; $22,620 was paid to 625 people in Wyandot County; $18,279 was paid to 514 people in Union County.

The men and women 65 or over who had worked long enough to qualify for old-age insurance benefits made up the largest group of beneficiaries and received larger amounts than dependents and survivors. Numbering 987 in Marion County, they received $47,087 for the month, an average of $47.71. Most of them were from 65 to 74 and received payments after meeting the test of retirement given in the law; those 75 or over could receive payments even though they were still working.

In the smaller groups, 199 aged widows and dependent widowers received $7,708. Two hundred and ninety-four wives and dependent husbands received $7,568.

Not all the people entitled to payments were 65 or older. Monthly checks went of 455 mothers and children—some of them dependents of retired men, but most of them survivors of those who had died. The payments to 88 mothers amounted to $3,523 in December, and 367 children received $11,386.

Changes made by the 1950 and 1952 Amendments to the Social Security Act accounted for a considerable part of the increases, both in numer of people receiving benefits and in the amounts of their payments. In 1950, the law was changed to include millions of people not covered before, and to make it easier for them to qualify for payments. Among those newly covered were self-employed people and regularly employed household and farm workers.

The 1952 changes, effective in September, raised the amounts of practically all benefits, gave social security credits for military service after the end of World War II, and provided that a person can be considered "retired" even though he is earning as much as $75.00 a month.

In the nation at the end of December, monthly payments amounting to $205,178,965 were being made to 5,025,549 people. Among them, according to Snider, were 2 out of 5 of the retired aged. About 80 per cent of civilian jobs are covered by the law; 4 out of 5 of the mothers and children in the country can count on monthly survivors insurance payments in case of the death of the family breadwinner, Snider emphasized.

Money to pay social security benefits comes from the social security taxes paid by employees, employers, and self - employed people, on earnings up to $3,600 a year. The tax is now 1½ per cent each for employer and employee, and 2¼ per cent for self-employed people. Under the law, the rates are scheduled to increase to 2 per cent each for employee and employer, and 3 per cent for self-employed people, on January 1, 1954.

In Marion, the social security office is located at 127 W.Church St. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dr. Finney Talks To Oak St. PTA

At a recent meeting of the Oak Street School PTA, Dr. H. Ray Finney, Marion dentist, showed a film and gave a talk on "Teeth and Their Care." Special music on the program was by a girls ensemble from Harding High School. A white elephant sale was held, with Mrs. Art Stayner, Mrs. Aubrey Fosnaugh and Donald Farrar acting as auctioneers.

The meeting was opened with the pledge to the flag led by Patty Deem and Gwen Gettys, and Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, conducted devotions. Mrs. C. W. Kinney reminded the members that since this is National Refrigeration Month, they should make sure all abandoned ice boxes and refrigerators are destroyed for safety purposes.

J. C. Ballinger was appointed to represent the school and serve on an advisory committee for the proposed swimming pool. Named on an auditing committee were Mrs. Richard Perry, Mrs. Fosnaugh and Charles Kinney.

QUIRK BARES EX-CON. His criminal past bared by a quirk of fate, Cornelius Pytsch, 49, ex-convict and jail breaker who became a respected civic leader and treasurer of Northlake, Chicago suburb, said, "I'm glad to get it of my chest." His masquerade of 17 years ended with screening of employees and families of the Motorola company, where his wife worked. The company applied for an AEC contract, then came the FBI. In 1936 Pytsch, who called himself Frank Raboski in Northlake, escaped Placerville, Calif., jail after being given 100 years for statutory rape.

County Church Women Meet At Luncheon

180 Join in Local Observance of May Fellowship Day

More than 180 church women of Marion and the county attended the local observance of the National Council of Churches Department of United Church Women's May Fellowship Day luncheon here Friday noon. Women of First Presbyterian Church entertained the group there. This annual event is sponsored for the community here by the Marion County Council of Church Women. Its theme for 1953, "Citizenship—Our Christian Concern," was emphasized in the devotional period by Mrs. Ashley Booth of Central Christian Church.

Mrs. Coburn Vandersall, wife of the Rev. Mr. Vandersall of Amherest, spoke and showed colored slides, scene of conditions in Europe she observed as she traveled there with her husband in May, 1950. He is pastor of the Amherst EUB Church, and is a brother of Mrs. Fred Dutt of the Richland Pk., near Marion. The Vandersalls initiated an overseas relief project during World War II, and to date it totals almost 700 boxes of clothing and supplies sent to Europe. In her talk and pictures, Mrs. Vandersall related unusual first-hand experiences in the visits to families to whom the packages had been sent. In pointing out the lack of material wealth among Europeans, she emphasized the unusual gratitude shown for items considered insignificant according to our living standards. The slides included pictures taken in England, Holland, Switzerland, and in Germany.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Clark Fouts, president of the Women's Association of the hostess church. The girls' ensemble is composed of Gail Pierce, Valeda Wigle, Gloria Endricks, first sopranos; Joan Kreuter, Joyce Walker, Evelyn Price, second sopranos; and Ann Sheppard, Margie Firstenberger, Ann Arthur, altos. Mary Lou Kruskamp was the accompanist. The offertory music was played by Mrs. Harry T. Williams, and the closing prayer was given by Mrs. Edith Bush, of Wesley Methodist Church, vice president of the council.

Mrs. Fred Dutt, council president, announced the next meeting to be held at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church June 17, at which time there will be installation of officers and yearly reports. She also announced the Northwest Regional Workshop of the United Church Women to be held here on June. Further details will be announced later.

Committees of the hostess church were directed by Mrs. Newton Cunningham, luncheon; Mrs. Marvin Smoot, hospitality; Miss Anna Dennig, tickets; and Miss Mabel Wheatley, table arrangements.

Augenstein, a brass quartet, David Noe, Richard Kaelber, Donald Yake and George Richardson, a vocal quartet, Wayne Yake, Keith Augenstein, George Richardson and Ralph Wick, a saxophone quintet, Marilyn Neville, Patty Mohat, Janet Ullmer, Howard Yake and Keith Augenstein; and a group of marches by the 40-piece band.

There will be no admission fee, but a benefit collection will be taken.

The band members and their friends will have a party following the concert.

There are nearly 100 members of the School Safety Patrol in Galion, sponsored by the Galion Automobile Club. All year these "sentinels of safety" have been on duty, morning, noon and night, at the street intersections of the school zones to safeguard the lives of their schoolmates. They watch carefully to tell their schoolmates when it is safe to cross the street. So diligently have they performed their duties here in the 20 years that the movement has been sponsored by the Galion Auto Club, is the largest to be sent to the national assembly and parade, from Galion. The trip for so many has been made possible by several sponsors who are paying the expenses of the trip. The Galion Auto Club, the Power Equipment Co., and the PTA of the West Elementary-Junior High, are each paying costs for two patrol members, while sponsors paying for the expense of one member, each, are the Fraternal Order of Police, the Knights of Columbus, the Lions and Rotary Clubs, and the PTA units of the North, South and East Elementary Schools.

Selection of the members to go to Washington was made on the merits of performance of duties, and for writing an essay on "How to Improve the School Safety Patrol in Galion."

Harold D. Carroll, manager of Carroll's Jewelry Store, spoke about diamonds when members of the Y-Men's Service Club met Thursday evening at the YMCA.

Introduced by the club program chairman, Howard Carey, Carroll told the group that in purchasing a diamond the average person has to rely on the honesty and reliability. He described the processes in which determine the value of a diamond, Carroll told the group, are color, cutting, carat, and clarity. He described the processes in the creation of the diamond which can be purchased in jewelry stores.

A guest of the club was Alvin Sanford.

Onward and Upward With Ohio

The summary of Ohio's $823 million budget bill passed by the House of Representatives tells the story.

This is the handy - reference table published at the end of the massive budget bill so legislators can tell at one startled glance where all the money goes.

Largest single item of expense is school finance — $221,678,000. This is for public-school assistance and does not include the cost of such advanced educational projects as state universities, schools for the deaf and blind and vocational education.

State universities alone consume more than $50 million of the budget.

Public welfare is the next biggest item. It includes $91,550,000 for executive and institutional expenses and $159,000,000 for aid for the aged.

There is a $28 million item for the division of social administration. It takes $13 million for public employees' retirement.

Public roads, of course, take a lot of money, but they are the only major item in the Ohio budget which can be called an inescapable obligation of government.

Between highway improvement and highway maintenance and repair, the two budget items in the public roads category, Ohio will spend about $125 million in the next two years. The Highway Patrol, however, will cost another $11 million and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles nearly $5 million.

If Ohio's spending were concerned solely with such things as courts, executive functions, boards of examination and control — the things which formerly comprised government — the state's budget would total about a quarter of a billion dollars.

It is approaching a billion and will keep growing because of things piled on top of what used to be government's functions. Each of these things has a powerful appeal to at least one special-interest group.

Reorganization Pitfall

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower's Plan Contrary to Spirit of Law

President Eisenhower has just taken a look at the "last 100 days" of the Truman administration and also at the hodge-podge of commitments left him as a legacy from several other 10-day periods in the last few years when irresponsible, reckless and spendthrift government was rapidly driving the American economic system to the edge of bankruptcy.

"It has been the purpose of this administration," said Mr. Eisenhower, "ever since it took office —finding itself confronted with a crazy quilt of promises, commitments, and contracts — to bring American military logic and American economic logic into joining strong harness.

"No more glaring illustration of the lack of balance between the military logic and the economic logic could possibly be found than the situation that existed when we took office. On the one hand, we found our allies deploring our unfulfilled defense promises. On the other hand, we found there was a total carry-over of $81 billions in appropriated funds, largely committed, for which cash must be provided from revenues in future fiscal years, over and above the normal annual cost of government. It's just as if the late administration had gone to the store and ordered $81 billions of goods, which we've got to pay for as they're delivered, in addition to paying the regular household running expenses."

Small wonder that the President, even though he sees an 8½-billion-dollar saving for the fiscal year which begins July 1 next, can't see right now whether or when the budget can be balanced.

All sorts of plans are being made to tackle this part of "the Washington mess" from a new approach — trying to cut out waste in existing commitments and trying to get better quality and less quantity in military weapons.

Also the "peak" year idea has been discarded in favor of a "stretch out" or gradual build-up of military strength — something that may, incidentally, avoid a sharp readjustment in business due to a drastically curtailed spending by the government in any one year.

Naturally Mr. Eisenhower would like to present a continuance of irresponsible procurement of military supplies. He has offered to Congress a plan to reorganize the whole Department of delegate to an appointed cabinet member his duties of a "commander-in-chief of the army and navy," as prescribed in the Constitution.

The text of the reorganization plan permits the complete delegation of power also at any moment by the secretary of defense to any one of his six assistants, even though Mr. Eisenhower in his forward of explanation says that, "Without imposing themselves in the direct lines of responsibility and authority between the secretary of defense and the secretaries of the three military departments, the assistant secretaries of defense will provide the secretary with a continuing review of the programs of the defense establishment and help him institute major improvements in their execution."

The exact language of the bill proposed by the President reads as follows:

"Performance of functions: the secretary of defense may from time to time make such provisions as he shall deem appropriate authorizing the performance by any other officer, or by any agency or employe, of the Department of Defense of any function of the secretary, including any function transferred to the secretary by the provisions of this reorganization plan."

It is contrary to the entire spirit of the defense laws of the past to delegate to any cabinet member authority over all the armed services and to let him delegate it to any subordinate he pleases whenever he pleases.

Such a delegation of authority has never before been suggested in the history of America's armed services. Instead of concentrating responsibility, it will tend to diffuse authority and render still less important the posts of the secretaries of the army, the navy and the air force.

What has happened is that originally the Air Force wanted to be separated from the Army. Out of two departments, three were created. Then came the drive for "unification."

The Defense Department was established in response to a crusade for an over-all department that would coordinate all three armed services. Now, instead of "triplication," the result has been "quadruplication."

As set forth in the new plan, the Defense Department is to become a bigger and broader bureaucracy

Reds Play 'Old Army Game' in Far East

By Edward Hunter

The old Army game is being played on the free world again, this time in the Far East. While Western eyes are fascinated by peace glimmerings in Korea, the Reds are grabbing the enormously strategic Laos area of Indo-China.

If all that Moscow accomplished by its current peace talks was to lull the West until the Reds captured this narrow strip of Buddhist territory, the Communists will have been highly successful. Red whelmingly on Korea, it would be foolhardy to make believe that this is the Asian viewpoint, too. Laos is much closer home than faraway Korea to the so-called neutral bloc — Burma, Indonesia and India. Laos is much closer, too, to Malaya, where bloody civil war has been engaged in for years.

Great publicity was given in Asia to the U.S. pronouncement that the U.N. would not permit

A glance at the map now shows how drastically this situation has changed. Communism no longer is on the faraway Russian border; it has been brought to the near-by Chinese frontier.

Now, he must be doing some deep thinking.

With Laos in Red hands, the creation of a rival Thai power stretching across northern Thailand and into Indo-China would be a practical certainty. Several

The Once Over

The Addict

Jasper Muggs, a nervous wreck, had summoned his doctor. "I've got a bad case of switcheroo interpretitis," he said weakly.

"It's epidemic," the doctor said. "Everybody's down with it. There's only one cure. Stop trying to interpret those Russian switches."

"That's easy enough to say," argued Jasper, "but everywhere I go somebody brings up the question. The papers, too, are full of speculation on Russia's real intentions."

"You don't have to be full of 'em," said the doctor.

"I'll bet you yourself keep trying to figure it all out," says Jasper.

"I have spells of it, but we shall discuss your case, not mine," said the doctor. "Let's have it. . . you have got to give up Russia."

"It's going to be hard," said Jasper. "I've become an addict."

"Nevertheless, I order you off the USSR. You must drop Malenkov, Molotov, Beria and the others. I am taking you off riddles within enigmas for a year."

"You mean I've got to stop worrying over the Kremlin's intentions completely!" exclaimed Jasper. "Can't I be a moderate worrier, a sort of occasional fretter?"

"No," snapped the doctor. "There is no such thing as a little fretting over Russian sincerity. You have to swear off completely or you're sunk."

"But I've been trying to interpret Russian moves so long that I'm an addict," sobbed Jasper. "Can't I taper off gradually?"

"It never works," the doctor said. "Either you have to say, 'To hell with Moscow's sincerity,' and drop the matter, or go on being a total addict. I never have known of a case where a man could be an occasional tackler of the Russian riddle. It's always the same. You say to yourself, 'I haven't tried to interpret a Kremlin move in months; it won't do me any harm to try one little interpretation now.' And—presto—you're on a bender!"

Jasper Muggs thought it over for a few minutes and then declared, "Doc, I don't think I'm strong enough to cut out global thinking entirely. I haven't the character to face at all times anybody who asks what I think of Russia's latest switcheroo and announce firmly that I am off the stuff."

"There's one thing we might try," the doctor said.

"What?" asked Jasper eagerly.

"Global Worriers Anonymous!" said the doctor. "It's an institution to which a man goes with other global fretters to shake off the worrying habit, especially as it concerns Russian aims and sincerity. It has cured a lot of worriers."

"Count me in," concluded Mr. Muggs.

tinuous pressure to squeeze more revenue out of story of public spending in the 20th century.

That is why Ohio is within striking distance of a billion - dollar budget, just as the federal government was within striking distance of a $100 billion budget until the spending spree was halted last November.

No More Fits and Starts

The key policy of the new administration in the domestic field is disclosed in President Eisenhower's statement that "security based upon heavy armaments is a way of life that has been forced upon us and upon our allies . . . Defense is a matter of adequate protection to be projected as far into the future as the actions and apparent purposes of others may compel us . . . a policy that can, if necessary, be lived with over a period of years."

Defense by fits and starts has been abandoned. National security has ceased to be an emergency and has become a fixed obligation.

There no longer is a terminal point of preparations at which the United States will reach its theoretical peak condition. It will try to be within easy reach of peak condiion at all times.

It will not aim to be ready to fight a specific enemy in one given year under certain conditions, provided the enemy proves to be obliging. It will build no Maginot lines for invaders to flank, prepare no Spanish armadas to be wrecked by one historic mishap.

For the first time in its history, the United States will be continuously alert and ready. Sudden mobilizations and demobilizations will be a thing of the past. Feast-or-famine economics will be out of style.

Hurry-up war orders turned out at premium rates by harassed companies will cease to be fashionable. The United States will figure the cost of security as a fixed item in its budget, year in and year out.

President Eisenhower and his associates have some momentous policy changes in view for the United States, but none more momentous in its ultimate effect than stabilization of national defense — far and away he largest item of cost in the federal budget.

Another Cause for Crying

Some wire news correspondents, who themselves doubtless have felt frustrations of genius, have been sympathetically if jocosely siding with a young man, Alexander James Anagnos, now living in New York who has written what he calls a song but can't find a publisher. He dubs his masterpiece "An Onion and You," which is no more preposterous than some other labels of Tin Pan Alley products. The words go something like this: "Hello my baby darling, I didn't mean to call; but I've just discovered, in the pantry hall, we don't have an onion, and I need one or two; so bring home an onion—and you."

Let no oldsters shiver at those more or less immortal lines. Just recently, they were humming "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and sharing tunefully the lot of the fella who pusha and pusha da truck on the Del'ware Lackawan'. For failing to throttle these in their lyrical cribs, a penance is laid upon us henceforth, as via onion soup concoctions.

Organize the whole Department of Defense.

Unfortunately, the subject is of such a complex nature and involves so directly the exercise of the legislative power by Congress, that the President would have been better advised to submit a draft of a new national defense law revising the present setup from top to bottom.

Congress is likely to turn thumbs down on the proposed "reorganization" plan because it is too vague and is unconstitutional.

Congress has the duty under the Constitution to make laws regulating the armed services. This power cannot be delegated to a secretary of defense nor can the president, who is elected by the people, than any of the three departments.

There are other weaknesses in the reorganization plan which the armed services committees of both houses of Congress will surely detect. In the sense that Mr. Eisenhower puts on the doorstep of Congress for debate a new plan, the document is a welcome addition to the literature of military controversy.

Any idea that legislation can be written in the broad and unspecific terms suggested in the reorganization plan assumes an indifference to, if not an unfamiliarity by Congress with its obligations under the Constitution to write the laws needed to regulate the armed forces.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I guess we'll never understand one another in this country, because we'll be too busy proving someone else is a skunk. Latest thing is butter.

It is plain from the nature of the wisecracks that farmers are being blamed for the fact butter is too high-priced to be sold successfully in competition with oleo and is being piled up in warehouses by government purchases to keep the price from slumping.

That makes no more sense in my opinion than to blame the men who mine iron ore for the fact warehouses are being filled with steel while steel mills continue to produce more steel than can be consumed on a hand-to-mouth ba'sis.

It isn't farmers who make and distribute butter. All they do is take care of the herds of cattle that produce the milk. They produce the raw material, so to speak. But they are being blamed because there is too much butter.

There is too much butter because butter costs too much. And butter costs too much because the government is trying to keep as much money as possible in agriculture, lest a too-sudden decline in agricultural income set off the same kind of economic collapse we had in the thirties. Our economists aren't very smart, but they're smart enough to know the last depression started when people who get their income from agriculture quit buying gizmos manufactured by city people, such as automobiles.

I still want to know as a part-time clodhopper why, if agriculture is such a fat deal, all the city people aren't giving up their jobs and moving to the country. We're just as overworked, cantankerous and mean and unreasonable out here in the country as people anywhere else, but we're no more so. That is all I'm trying to prove.

I went back to see Jed Martin yesterday and read that piece in the new Fortune Magazine I was talking about in my last letter. It was a disappointment, because it was about a new kind of executives, not the old kind.

The new ones are being turned out like ballplayers in a farm system. They are shifted around from one place in the sticks to another until they are polished up for the big leagues. By that time, they know all the answers. Their wives know all the right things to say. They know where all the bodies are buried and how to keep all the bosses happy. They have lived in half a dozen different places, have made friends in all of them and then moved on, always counting on being top dog some day. Most of them will wind up as good old middle dogs, with nothing to show for their harried lives but pictures of all the houses they lived in and all the schools their kids attended.

According to Fortune, that's all they want. It's the new way of doing things. I would never be an executive if that's what I had to do. But then, on the other hand, I never would have been one in the old school, either, whatever that was. I had hoped to find out what it was from reading Fortune. I thought it would have all the answers.

Jed's leg is coming along fine, he says. I didn't have time to talk about it much, because it was a long artical and he got sleepy while I was reading it. Your aunt sends her regards, with mine, to all of the family.

Freight Prediction

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A survey conducted by the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation to evaluate the potential size of the air cargo market indicated the current volume of air frieght within the United States will be doubled by 1954 and increased five times by 1958 This traffic may grow to about 1,500 million ton-miles per year by 1960, the survey indicated.

China's ambitions in Indo-China have been no secret.

Indeed, this was the first fact to impress itself on Gov. Dewey when he toured Asia a year ago. Furthermore, the Red drive threatens the strategic mineral areas of Burma, Thailand and Malaya, sources of much-needed tungsten, tin and rubber.

The question for the Reds was not whether to extend their aggression into this area; the problem was how to avoid waking up the American people to the skin game. The peace drive that started while Stalin was alive had Southeastern Asia, with its absolutely essential war resources, as one of its main objectives.

The exchange of a comparatively few prisoners of war, and the prospect of a new promise to halt the warfare in Korea, were sufficient. Wishful thinking in the West again took care of the rest.

There are few spots on earth at this particular time that can be so fruitful to the Communist global push as the centrally located Laos area, that hangs over the entire northeastern side of American-influenced Thailand, and juts up with its northwestern end on extremely nervous Burma.

The first result of a Laos conquest would be to let the Asian peoples know, in the language they understand the best—power politics — that Red objectives remain unchanged by all the peace talk, and that they might as well accept the inevitable. This inevitability theme is the main red propaganda line in Asia.

Though few Americans ever heard of Laos until a few weeks ago, and our interest is overtruce talks in Korea to be used as a screen for the extension of the invasion in Indo-China. This was accepted as the natural followup of the "positive policy" that President Eisenhower announced. The letdown after this buildup could only be disastrous to Asian morale. Morale is the basis on which the Reds are fighting this new-fangled psychological war.

The effect of the loss of Laos of Thailand, which we more picturesquely call Siam, could be decisive. The Thai government is headed by Luang Pibul Songgram, who was the Japanese puppet in World War II.

Stunned by Japan's defeat, he had studied the reasons for it.

He saw that Japan was just too far away from Thailand to take advantage of its early victories. He saw that Russia was even farther away. On the basis of power, he turned to the U.S.

million Thai-blooded refugees from Indo-China already live in Northern Thailand.

The effect of the fall of Laos on the powerful Chinese overseas communities throughout Asia would be equally disastrous. Reality would force them to reappraise their stand, which only recently changed into hostility to Peiping, due to Red excesses.

Already, so far as the Asian situation looks to the people of that continent, the free world has been dealt a long series of uninterrupted defeats. How things look in the West often is contrary to how they appear in Asia.

The Laos emergency points up the lesson that so long as one side is basing its strategy on a co-ordinated, single-front strategy, it is only a matter of time before it can be sure to defeat any divided opposition.

For Crying Out Loud!

By MARK DANA

A highly technical report on some studies being conducted at the Child Health Center of the University of Washington undertakes to find out why babies cry more than sleep-loving parents prefer. The clinic specialists have worked without sleep themselves, hoping to explain as quickly as possible why some infants howl more than others, and no doubt assured it is high time to get such matters settled before other centuries of babies appear out of the blue.

The learned findings are that infants which do a lot of crying acquire their restlessness from tense parents. The mother who is serene and calm in caring for her child has a peaceful baby and a pleasant life; the mother who is fussy, fidgety, over-anxious, oversolicitous, emotionally keyed-up soon finds her baby is the same way, says the Health Center report.

This is not new information to most mothers, to be sure, and the expected reminder that a mother who has a "crier" baby should try harder to keep calm herself than to quiet the child is much easier to say than to do.

Noticeably, the health center has not much to say about fathers, save to suggest mildly that quarreling parents make any baby fretful, and to express sympathy (well deserved at that) for fathers who at 2 a.m. must arise and walk the floor with a yowling offspring. Mothers get the blame along with the praise, but that seems to be the way of the world. Changes in environment, in domestic tempo, in tensions are suggested for both fathers and mothers, although the researchers forebore out of delicacy to suggest that a crying baby may merely need a change itself of another sort, to become sweet and cuddly once more.

One might pass out a word of sympathy, too, for the Health Center researchers themselves who went in deliberately for listening to infantile wails, trying to fathom their causes, seeking to translate whether the yowler was just hungry or was reflecting parental disharmony. There must be easier ways to earn a living.

THE "WORKSHOP" OF THE CHURCH

This attractive new structure is the "workshop" of the Emanuel Lutheran Church. It is ideally equipped for the heavy traffic and hard usage that is associated with a growing church school. Perhaps the biggest blessing of all is the spirit with which the entire project, a sizeable one for any congregation, was carried to completion. The congregation pledged and repledged to back a plan which resulted in the completion of this new structure to God's glory and the furtherance of His work.

"Emanuel Lutheran Church Completes It's Third Building Project"

Reverend M. E. HOLLENSEN

The year 1918 saw the consecration of the beautiful Gothic church, in which Emanuel congregation now worships. This was followed by the erection of the parsonage in 1924. And now, by the grace of God, the time has come to dedicate the stately new $225,000 educational building. So Emanuel congregation has endeavored to fulfill its God-given task and purpose to provide for the spiritual life and welfare of its members. The members of Emanuel church are also deeply mindful of their responsibility and obligation to serve their community. For the benefit of the sick and shut-ins of Marion and vicinity, Emanuel broadcasts its Sunday worship service over station WMRN, Marion. With the facilities which Emanuel church now has at its disposal, it asks for no greater privilege than that it may serve this community for many years to come.

Improvements In The New Educational Building

This new educational building serves an important combination of purposes. It fills the need for greater capacity in the church auditorium. It answers the urgent need of larger quarters for church school classes. It supplies greater facilities for the social activities of the church. This structure brings many blessings, both physical and spiritual.

BELOW is pictured the master kitchen. It is located in the original structure but it has been more than doubled in size and completely modernized in facilities. This kitchen and adjoining dining-room are ideally equipped to handle larger groups.

A tour through all this new building will show how generously God answered the prayers that brought about this happy Dedication Service. May this new structure stand for decades to come as a spiritual workshop in which souls can be strengthened and prepared for eternity with their Creator!

AT THE RIGHT, is a view showing how the new wing connects with the church auditorium. At the worship service, this wing increases the seating capacity by 240 persons. This section can be closed off, if desired, by a large modernfold door, to accommodate small, individual groups.

The New Building Is A Four Floor Structure

The first floor joins with the basement level of the church. It houses the Beginner's or Pre-School Department of the Church School. On this floor is the church secretary's office, along with the pastor's study. Also on this floor is the beautiful rest lounge and the master kitchen (pictured on the left).

The third floor is the grade school department. The primary, junior and intermediate departments conduct their classes here. By the use of modernfold doors, rooms on this floor can be enlarged for large meetings or used for smaller group gatherings. There is a complete kitchen on this floor.

The second floor is on a level with the church sanctuary. It houses the adult department of the Church School which includes all people out of high school. There are three large classrooms on this floor and one of these can be separated into two parts by closing the folding door.

The fourth floor houses the High School section of the Church School. It is the meeting place for all extra curricular activities such as Boy Scouts, Luther League, etc.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Diane Titania Sanson to Floyd Stuart Bellet is being announced by her mother, Mrs. Kermit H. Lawrence of 646 Blaine Ave. Miss Sanson, whose father is A. J. Sansone of the Marion-Delaware Rd., is a graduate of Harding High School with the class of 1950 and attended Ohio State University where she is affiliated with the College of Education. For roll call the members told their pet peeves. The study topic, "Achieving Spiritual and Emotional Maturity" was presented by Mrs. Delmar Brewer and Mrs. Donald Williams.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Don DeLong: Mrs. Bruce Snider, president; Mrs. Charles Francis, vice president; Mrs. Delmar Brewer, secretary; Mrs. Eugene Miller, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morton, whose wedding took place in Trinity Baptist Church are making their home at 797 Waples Ave. The evening ceremony took place on Saturday, Feb. 7, with Dr. J. B. Palms, white gladoli and lighted candles decorated the church and lighted tapers were in the windows and outlined the choir loft. The wedding music was by Mrs. Cecil Davis, organist and Miss Mary Sue Pilkington, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly lace and marquisette, fashioned with a fitted lace bodice accented with a marquisette yoke and the starched marquisette skirt was appliqued with lace and ended in a train. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried an orchid and carnation bouquet. Her jewelry was a triple strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift.

"Right here at the light," said his father, a garage mechanic.

"I see they finally got that bridge finished," Donald said, leaning up against the windshield. "I sure used to get a kick out of watching them pile drivers."

The car passed a cemetery.

"Mr. Murphy is lying here now, Donald" his mother said softly.

"Where did they bury Tillie?'

"Over on the other side."

Donald spotted a filling station where he once worked, and observed that it still looked the same.

"There's that new Grant store I was telling you about," his mother said.

"This street hasn't changed much though. Boy, was it cold deilvering them papers. Crossman's store, I remember, used to be the first stop."

And suddenly the car pulled up at the small green and white house at 177 Hall St. All the lights were on. Small clusters of friends and neighbors stood on the tiny porch and lawn.

"There's Richard!" Donald whooped, spotting his brother, who had just returned home on special leave. "Hey, what do you say there?"

Crop Outlook Good, County Agent Reports

The crop outlook in Marion County this year is generally good, Arthur Smith, County Extension Agent, said today.

Smith said that the wheat, oats and hay situation is especially good.

However, Smith said some farmers have not planted their oats as yet and said the recent cold weather caused some wheat to yellow where there was a shortage of nitrogen in the soil.

The hay crop is showing an extra good growth for this time of year, Smith said. There is considerable damage by insects to the clover and alfalfa crops but Smith said this is being controlled where spraying is done.

The wheat is higher than normal for this time of year, as are the hay crops and meadows, he reported.

He remarked that the recent rains helped the crops but added that it interferred with those farmers who were late in planting oats. Although it is almost too late, there will still be some oats planted, he said.

Farmers are waiting for the ground to dry so they can begin plowing for the coming corn and soybeans planting period. Planting will begin around May 10, Smith says.

"Which Do You Prefer—Regular or King Size?"

The other day an old customer ordered a steak. One of our waiters jokingly said, "Regular, or King Size." We have in our refrigerator many different cuts of beef that are used for our steak dinners. You can have an 8-ounce one or a "King Size" fellow that weighs over a pound. Or, a really big fellow that will serve four people. Allied Planes Sweep Korean Supply Areas

Blast Communist Targets; Big Fires Set, Pilots Report

SEOUL (AP)—The U. N. Command sent hundreds of deadly Sabre jets and fighter - bombers streaking over North Korea today in a grim search for Red MIG jets and troop and supply targets.

No MIGs were sighted, but the Air Force said several rich targets were smashed.

Fighter-bombers plasted a series of rail bridges near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. Thunderjet pilots claimed two bridges destroyed and two damaged.

Australian Meteor jets, Marine Panther jets and bomb-carrying Sabre jets pounded frontline targets in Western Korea, the Air Force said.

Sixteen B29 Superforts from Okinawa bombed targets on the Haeju peninsula west of Kaesong, headquarters for the Communist armistice delegation. Eleven Superforts hit supply buildings and troop shelters at Taechon while the other five bombed similar targets at Uchon, the Air Force said.

Returning pilots reported big fires in both areas.

The South Korean 3rd Corps was activated on the Eastern Front today boosting the ROK strength almost to that of U. S. forces in the Eighth Army.

Only a few light skirmishes were reported along the quiet 155-mile battle line.

A Chinese platoon attacked an Allied listening post near the truce talks village of Panmunjom before dawn, but a hail of fire cut down about 35 Communists and the Reds hastily withdrew, the Eighth Army said.

Sixty North Koreans charged another listening post near the Punch Bowl on the Eastern Front and lost an estimated 45 killed and wounded.

Shortly after midnight Red loudspeakers across the front began broadcasting more appeals for peace. One announced called on American troops to make peace, stop fighting and "tell the folks back home to write Postoffice Box 574, Washington, D. C." The announcer did not say who holds the box.

Administration Gets Backing Of Democrats

Eisenhower Policy Shows Little Change, Sparkman Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said today that in next year's congressional elections some Democrats running for re-election may contend they are better supporters of President Eisenhower than Republican colleagues.

Sparkman, the 1952 democratic vice presidential nominee, said in an interview he believes this will be particularly true of some Southerners who have shown they intend to back Eisenhower's major policies as they know them now.

"President Eisenhower commands strong support among the Democrats on foreign policy and probably will have just as strong support on domestic policy that hasn't fully unfolded yet," Sparkman said.

"The reason for that is that his policies thus far have shown very little divergence from those that Democrats have been supporting for years."

The Alabama Senator cited as an example democratic support for a proposed resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other peoples. It was buried in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when Senate Republicans couldn't agree among themselves on language they felt a majority of the Senate would support.

Sparkman also said he doesn't believe Eisenhower will get the reciprocal trade agreements program extended in the form he wants it unless Democrats back him up.

But Sparkman made it plain, however, he isn't conceding the Republicans any ground in next year's elections, when seats of all of the House members and one third of the Senators will be at stake.

He said he thinks the Democrats will win back House seats in marginal areas, hold all their Southern Senate seats and make the going tough for Republicans in other parts of the nation.

Republicans have promised an immediate start of campaigning, with indications they may put special stress on organizing in the South.

GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, announcing a staff shakeup yesterday, appointed Robert Humphreys of Washington, D. C., as publicity director and A. D.

TORNADO AFTERMATH. An automobile, household furnishings, and building wreckage are tossed into a pile of debris at Warner Robins, Ga., after a tornado struck the town near the Robins Air Force base at dinner time. At least 18 persons were killed and hundreds injured when the twister struck as the 9,000 residents of the town were sitting down at their evening meal. The tornado caused millions of dollars damage to the town and the air base.

Say Watchdog Agency Saving U.S. Billions

Senators Protest Abolishing Director Of Installations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Southern Democratic Senators today urged President Eisenhower to change his mind about wiping out a defense agency they said saves the taxpayers billions of dollars.

Sens. Long of Louisiana and Stennis of Mississippi protested the proposed abolition of the Office of Director of Installations, set up by Congress just eight months ago.

Long, in a statement that questioned whether Eisenhower even understood what his office was doing said in a statement:

"I entertain the hope that the President will fully inform himself and reconsider this ill - advised action."

Stennis, who got Congress to set up the special watchdog agency, said in an interview:

"I think the President should personally examine the facts and consider amending the plan.'

Both lawmakers had reference to the President's plan to reorganize the Department of Defense, The plan was sent to Congress Thursday and, by law, goes into effect 60 days from then unless either the Senate or House rejects it by a clear majority.

Congress must accept or reject such plans as a whole, although amendments may be made in separate legislation later with Senate and House approval and the President's signature.

Long, who has been feuding with what he calls the "high brass in the Pentagon," said the new watchdog office had saved the taxpayers billions of dollars by putting "a bridle on the most outrageous type of military waste and extravagance."

Stennis said that, if Congress allows the defense reorganization to become effective, he will introduce separate legislation to re-establish the agency.

Both Stennis and Long conceded in separate interviews that chances of defeating the entire reorganization plan are slim.

Long said Congress set up the agency while Eisenhower was running for President and so "it is unlikely that President Eisenhower would have known about the efficiency and unpublicized accomplishments."

U.S. Court Strikes Out 4 of 7 Charges Against Lattimore

WASHINGTON (AP) —A federal judge today threw out charges that Owen Lattimore lied about alleged Communist sympathies but ordered him to trial here Oct. 6 on three lesser counts of perjury.

District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl struck out four of seven counts on which Lattimore, Far Eastern specialist, had been indicted last Dec. 16.

The judge denied defense appeals for killing the entire indictment, for moving the trial site from Washington and for postponing the trial until next year.

Fuss Holds Up Construction Of Print Shop

Council Group Returns Application To Planning Group

Controversy on whether to grant Leo Belknap permission to build a new printing shop at Tully and Oak Sts. was tossed back into the lap of the City Planning Commission after a public meeting of the City Council Lands and Buildings Committee Friday night.

Councilmen Harold Fralich, sixth ward, Thomas H. Clark, at-large, James C. Jenkins, second ward, all of the committee and Robert G. Haldeman, at-large, listened to both sides of the issue then decided to send it back to the Planning Commission.

Fralich said today decision to do so was made on the basis "the Planning Commission hadn't done its job satisfactorily."

He said only four of the seven commission members were present for each of two meetings held on Belknap's application for permission to construct the new print shop building.

He also said two of the four members present for the first meeting were not present for the second.

The Council committee recommended that the Planning Commission reconsider the application, and again make its recommendation to Council at the next meeting, Fralich said.

The Planning Commission granted Belknap permission to build the shop subject to approval of Council.

Three other MIGs were listed as damaged and assessment of gun camera films added one MIG destroyed and one damaged during a previous week, the Air Force said.

Reds Advance In Indo-China

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh invaders steadily closed a two-column pincers on the tiny Laotian royal seat of Luangprabang today with every indication they would open an all out assault Sunday.

A northern column of the Communist led forces was pushing within less than a day's march of the town, down the Namhou River, a tributary to the Mekong River, which skirts Luangprabang. Another from the east was reported 12 miles away.

French Union forces poured in reinforcements and supplies to bolster the troops of this little mountain kingdom of Laos, one of the three states making up the associated states of Indochina.

Digging in with the help of Luangprabang's 6,000 inhabitants, the French command hopes the defenders will be able to hold off the outnumbering hordes of rebels with superior fire power from U. S. supplied guns and the cover of American furnished fighters and bombers.

Moscow trained Ho Chi Minh, the Vietminh leader, is believed to have thrown up to 40,000 troops—roughly four divisions—into the Laos invasion, which the French say is being supplied from Red China and is part of the Kremlin's overall plan for conquest of Southeast Asia.

Man Fined $50 For Disturbance on Train

A Detroit man was given a suspended fine of $50 and costs in the Marion Municipal Court today on charges of disorderly conduct and intoxication.

Truman M. Grahm, 44, was arrested at the Erie Depot on W. Center St. by Pennsylvania Railroad Detective Jack Frost at 9:33 p.m. Friday after passengers on a Pennsylvania southbound train complained of his actions on the train. He told Municipal Court Judge W. Dexter Hazen he was enroute to Huntington, W. Va., for the funeral services of an aunt.

Baumgart Jr. of Vermillion, Ohio, as executive director to run national headquarters and head a special activities committee. Hall said the net result of hirings and firings would be a staff reduction from 139 to about 100 and an annual saving of $100,000.

Hall said he will appoint a director soon to set up campaign organization and to take charge of patronage matters, which he contended haven't been handled efficiently in the past.

Republicans in Congress apparently could agree with the latter statement since most of them still are complaining that jobs for Republicans have not been forthcoming in expected numbers since the new administration took over.

Eisenhower broke through the logjam to some extent yesterday by sending to the Senate the nominations of 14 U. S. attorneys and marshals in 10 states.

He also nominated Dallas S. Townsend of Montclair, N. J., to be an assistant attorney general, replacing Harold I. Baynton, resigned, and designated Horace A. Hildreth of Maine to be ambassador to Pakistan.

in September, of 1951. At that time the unit was stationed at LaRue, Caledonia, and Prospect with the remaining schools being asked to transport their students to the unit. It is hoped by the association and the Health Department that this year's schedule of going to each individual school will not only be more convenient for the schools, but will enable more school personnel to take advantage of the service.

An educational program has been under way in the schools during the past week under the direction of Mrs. Anne Sedelmaier, county nurse, aimed at teaching the reason for and the importance of the X-ray. A film has been shown in all schools and literature has been distributed pointing out that there will be no disrobing, it will only take a minute, and a personal report will be sent to each individual.

Marion Airman Gives Blood To Help Save Japanese Girl

A Marion airman and an airman from St. Louis added another link in the binding chain of mutual relations between the Japanese and American people when they gave blood to a seriously ill Japanese girl at Tokyo recently.

Airman Second Class Ralph E. Bacon, son of Mrs. Curtis Wilson of 509 Universal Ave., and Airman Second Class Neal F. Cowling of St. Louis, both radio repairmen of the 374th Maintenance Squadron, donated their blood after hearing of the grave condition of Miss Matsuyo "Janie" Uchizono, and the call for blood donors.

It was found through a periodical physical that the girl, formerly a special interpreter in the 374th Troop Carrier Wing base shops, had tuberculosis and she was immediately hospitalized at Nakano Hospital in Tokyo.

She was visited frequently by three Japanese employees of the base shops—Noboru Nakamura of Tokyo, Japanese personnel supervisor, Yoshishige Ikuta of Tachikawa, assistant Japanese supervisor, and Jiro Amagi of Sunagawa, radio maintenance technician — who kept the personnel in the section informed as to the girl's condition.

She was transferred to Kyose National Sanitarium near Johnson Air Base for further treatment after it was found she needed an operation following months of close observation and treatment.

Blood was urgently needed and a call for donors went out to all Japanese employees in the base shops who knew the girl. Two clerk typists in the section, Miss Toshiko Watanabe of Ohme and Miss Yoshiko Endo of Sunagawa, volunteered to give.

Airmen Bacon and Cowling asked their OIC, Maj. Dan E. McGibeny of near Mt. Vernon, if they could donate their blood also after hearing of her condition and permission was granted. Maj. McGibeny furnished transportation to the hospital. The girl was "doing fine" when last seen by the donors.

Airman Bacon has been overseas since August of 1952. He was graduated from Harding High School in 1950 and was employed at the Universal Cooler before entering the service in June of 1951.

An almost identical amendment by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) was defeated, 58-26, late yesterday. The principal difference was that Douglas would have dedicated federal revenues to educational purposes.

Convict Columbus Man of Murder

WOODSFIELD, O. (AP)—Paul D. Simmons, 32, of Columbus, was convicted early today of murdering an old-age pensioner and of setting his body and house afire.

The jury of 12 Monroe County farmers found Simmons guilty of shooting to death Benjamin Shook, 75, of Laings, Jan. 2, and of robbing his onetime friend and pouring gasoline on his body.

The jurors deliberated 10 hours before bringing in their verdict, which recommended mercy.

The decision of the jury saves Simmons from the electric chair. A sentence of life imprisonment is mandatory in first degree murder convictions.

Most Believe Programs Are Helpful

Survey Shows Pupils' TV Habits

Television programs are helpful in studies and the average time spent viewing television is only slightly less than that spent in the classroom, a recent survey conducted at Vernon Heights Junior High School shows.

To determine the effects of television on the study habits of junior high school pupils at questionnaire, approved by the faculty members, was distributed to all pupils and the results tabulated by members of the student council.

From the data collected, Clark M. Fouts, principal, believes it will be possible to correlate the school program more closely with student interests revealed in the survey. It may also be possible, he states, to make more direct use of those programs listed by the pupils as being of value in their school studies.

Since the survey shows that the hours spent viewing television programs are nearly as many as those spent in the classroom, faculty members agree that every effort must be made to emphasize the educational possibilities of this medium and to help develop in the students an appreciation for the cultural advantages which it affords.

A total of 294 pupils, 161 boys and 133 girls, responded to the questionnaire. Of this number 99 were seventh grade, 109 eighth grade and 86 ninth grade pupils. Of this number 88.4 per cent reported having one or more TV sets in the home for an average of 2.2 years. Approximately 90 per cent of the pupils reported watching some TV each day of the week and average viewing time per week was 26 hours.

Saturday, Tuesday and Sunday rate top billing in TV viewing, the survey revealed and one-third of the students reported that parents placed restrictions on the time spent looking at programs. The report showed that 33.9 per cent of the students spend less time on homework now than before they had a TV set, while 54 per cent reported spending more time at home. This percentage declines somewhat from the seventh to the ninth grade, and is generally higher among boys than girls. Of the students reporting, 74.4 per cent found TV helpful in their studies and subjects in which it is most helpful are science, history, geography and English. Programs listed as helpful were the following: news, 72; Mr. Wizard, 58; March of Time, 11; The Nature of Things, 7; Hallmark Hall of Fame, 6; Zoo Parade, 4; John Hopkins Science Review, 4; Mr. Peepers, 4; and Cavalcade of America, 3.

Favored programs included the inauguration ceremonies of President Eisenhour, bowl games, parade of roses, political conventions and Kefauver hearings, and sports in order of choice were football, baseball, basketball, wrestling and boxing. The 10 favorite programs in order of preference were "I Love Lucy," "Dragnet," "Arthur Godfrey," "Comedy Hour," "Boston Blackie," 'Mr. and Mrs. North," and 'My Little Margie," (tied) "Red Buttons," "Mr. Peepers," "Jackie Gleason" and 'Buck Rogers."

Least favored in order are 'Howdy Doody," "Milton Berle," Wrestling, "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," "Meet the Press," Sally Flowers," boxing, 'Aunt Fran," news and "Captain Video."

House of Steinway

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The Steinway piano is exactly twice as old as the Ford car.

Both families this year are celebrating the 100th and the 50th anniversary of products that have become famous name brands in America.

Theodore E. Steinway, 69, head of the House of Steinway, looks with rather tolerant condescension on the Ford family's celebration.

"How time flies," he mused at lunch the other day. "Why, it seems only yesterday that young Henry came out of his bicycle repair shop."

Theodore is the grandson of Henry Engelhard Steinway, a Prussian soldier who won a medal for his bugle playing at the battle of Waterloo, then became a cabinetmaker and emigrated here in 1853 in middle age to found the family piano business.

Henry's daughter, Doretta, gave free piano lessons to help sell the instruments her father and brothers made by hand.

The Steinways have succeeded for 100 years by creating a tradition — and sticking to it. They have never made a big play for the mass market.

In 1853 they sold about 200 pianos. This year they expect to sell only 3,500. That is only a little over 2 per cent of the 150,000 pianos Americans buy each year, but it is about 10 per cent of the dollar volume.

Old Theodore says pridefully: "We aren't selling soap or hot dogs, you know. We are selling something that has to do with the spirit, the soul."

The family sales gimmick has been the free use of their product to concert artists. They keep a pool of 600 concert grands for this purpose, and will ship one by air or sea to a concert anywhere in the world. All the artist has to pay is the freight and tuning charges.

The Steinway theory embers of the public who can afford it will buy an instrument played by Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, George Gershwin and Fats Waller. This formula, they say, has enabled them to maintain peak quality—and make a profit.

There are 12,000 parts in a three-legged Steinway of wood, iron, glue and strings. No one knows how many parts there are in a two-legged human Steinway, but the family tries to turn them out with the same disciplined care.

The fifth generation of the family has now come into the business. How do you raise a Steinway?

President Theodore, who could put a piano together blindfolded at 18, said:

"First a Steinway goes out and gets a good wife. Then he lets nature take its course.

"When the offspring are 6 to 8 years old, they start a routine musical education. Each must practice the piano an hour a day up to the age of 15 or 16. After that he may continue or, as he chooses.

"The family has never turned out a real concert artist. But each is required to be able to make some kind of a sound on a piano—happily, a pleasant tone.

"He goes into the factory after school hours at 15 and learns cabinetmaking. He works at every kind of a job in the factory for at least three years. After that he specializes in the field he has become interested in.

"I myslf was a floor salesman and house tuner for a long time."

Now and then there is a scandal in the family — a Steinway doesn't like the piano business and gets out of it.

"I remember a cousin like that," said Theodore. "He became a farmer—a flower grower, or something."

Mr. Steinway's frame shuddered, as if a string within him had been plucked out of tune.

Harding Retains Crown in Marion Relays

Nine Records Fall During Fourth Annual Running

Nine Night Relays records and six new stadium marks were set Friday at the fourth annual Marion Night Relays at Harding Stadium. Harding's high flying thinclads raced to their third straight title in the local meet.

The prexies notched 61 1-3 points to win the meet with little difficulty. Upper Arlington came in with 32 1-3 points to cop the runner-up spot. Fostoria finished third with 29 1-3 points. Other teams and their scores follow: Worthington, 27 1-3; Painesville, 22 1-3; Upper Sandusky, 16½; Tiffin Columbian, 12 1-3; Bexley, 10; Findlay, 6; Delaware, 5; and Galion, 2½.

Field events got under way at 6 p.m. and the assault on the records began imemdiately. Jim Tucker of Fostoria set a new relay record in the broad jump with a leap of 21'1½" to beat Harding's Gary Ballinger who came in with his best jump of the year at 20'10". Doug Bibler took third to give the locals seven points in that event.

The high jump finished in a three way tie with Tucker, Dick Rieke of Worthington and Painesville's Pastor all clearing 5'8". Harding's Jim Zeigler finished in a tie for fifth.

Jack Boxwell threw the discus 134'7" for a new relay mark and Bill Bailey took a fifth to give Harding another seven points.

Jack Craft, Harding senior, found himself in the pole vault event and soared to a new record when he cleared 11'4". Teammate Ronnie Reed jumped 10'8½" to take second. The Prexies gathered in 8½ points in this event.

In the evening session, Tucker got things rolling by racing to a new mark in the 120-yard high hurdles. He shattered Paul Ludwig's mark of 15.7 set in 1951 when he toured the course in 15.2. Harding picked up five points in the 100-yard dash on Jack Garver's third place finish and Chet King's fourth. Upper Arlington's Mortland won the event.

Jack Blackburn, Worthington distance ace, shattered John Ashworth's mark in the mile run. He copped the first place trophy with a time of 4:36.7. Fred Price of Harding turned in his best mark of the year, 4:42.3, for second throned defending champion, Morral. The LaRue squad turned in a commendable time of 1:40.3. Moral came in second with Prospect third, Caledonia fourth and Pleasant fifth.

Edison's runners finished with a 1:41 to win the MAR-DEL League 880 relay. State Street came in second and Vernon was third.

During the evening session, Cecil Gabler, Harding principal, gave a welcoming address to an estimated 800 fans. Mr. Gabler and Charles Harmon presented the Midtown Chevrolet trophy to Harding's co-captains, Jack Garver ver and Frank Green. The trophy becomes a permanent fixture in the Harding trophy case after being there for three years. The Prexies also carted home a victory trophy and a trophy for the 880-yard relay win. Upper Arlington won the runner-up trophy.

Fostoria's Jim Tucker was the big scorer of the meet. He was presented a trophy in recognition of his 22 1-3 points.

Native Dancer Remains Top Pick in Derby

12-Horse Field Set To Go At 4:30 Post Time

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Native Dancer answers the big question today in the Kentucky Derby—Americas most glamorous horse race—expected to attract more than 100,000 to Churchill Downs for its 79th running.

The question is whether the blue-grey bearer of Alfred Vanderbilt's cerise and white diamond silks, winner of 11 races in an unbeaten career, can whip 11 other highly-tuned three-year olds over the Downs' testing mile and one-quarter.

Never before has the son of Polynesian been asked to show the speed and stamina necessary to capture the classic run for the roses. But the manner in which he compiled a pre-Derby record matched only by Morvich in 1921 and '22 indicates the Dancer will be crowned with the garland of red roses at the finish of the long journey.

The condition of the track probably will make some diffrence in the betting odds but the Dancer, who may or may not have a running mate in Social Outcast, probably will answer the call to boots and saddles as the 3 to 5 choice.

Post time is 4:30 p. m. (EST). The Columbia Broadcasting System will televise the colorful scene and the race between 4 and 4:45 p. m. It will be broadcast, also by CBS, from 4:15 to 4:45.

After several days of intermittent rains, the weatherman promised clearing skies by noon and some sun by post time.

Bosox Seek 5th Straight; Feller Goes To Mound

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lou Boudreau's Boston Red Sox youngsters try to stretch their winning string to five straight here today against Cleveland's Bob Feller who has a 1-1 record.

The Red Sox manager and former Tribe pilot finds a special pleasure in beating Cleveland's Indians since he was replaced here by Al Lopez. What happened at the Stadium Friday night was enough to make him happy as a lark.

Boston got of to a 3-0 lead in the first three innings and went on to win 8-1, handing the Indians their worst defeat of the season.

Marv Grissom, a 35 - year - old righthander, permitted only four hits in seven innings to gain the victory; and Ellis Kinder allowed one more in the final two frames after Grissom was removed for a pinch hitter.

The loser was Bob Lemon, who had won three straight. He was sheild for eight hits and seven runs in eight innings and the Red Sox added another marker in the last inning with three hits off Bob Chakales.

The 11 -game hitting streak of Cleveland's third baseman Al Rosen was stopped.

A fourth-inning homer by Larry Doby kept Grissom from posting a shutout in the two-hour-and 40-minute contest before 14,391 fans.

Two of the Tribe's four remaining hits were singles by Lemon.

Right at the start Lemon demonstrated his lack of control at a cost of two runs. He hit one batter, walked another and made a wild pitch. This enabled the Red Sox to parlay Billy Goodman's lead-of single into a two-run rally.

A walk to Dick Gernert and Sam White's double added another for Boston in the third.

In a big eighth the Red Sox scored four times. Another single by Gernert started the inning. Gene Stephens was hit by a pitched ball, Tom Umphlett doubled Gernert home, and Milt Bolling drew an intentional pass to load the bases. Al Zarilla, pinchhitting for Grissom, singled to score Stephens, but Harry Simpson's excellent throw from right field got Umphlett at the plate. Billy Goodman tripled for his third hit of the game to drive in two more.

Gernert scored the one run off Chakales in the ninth. He singlec and came all the way home from first on White's single.

Saints Lose; AA Battle Tightens

By The Associated Press

The Indianapolis Indians moved up to within a half-game of the first place St. Paul Saints with an 11-inning 5-4 victory over Kansas City as St. Paul lost to Charleston 3-2 in American Association play Friday.

In other games, Louisville beat Toledo, 3-1, and Minneapolis defeated Columbus, 8-1.

Indianapolis and Kansas City were at a 4-4 standoff at the end of the regular nine-inning game but in the last of the 11th Joe Cafie's double and Dave Pope's single produced the winning run.

Charleston, held to only two hits for five innings, put together four singles in the sixth for the three runs that gave the Senators a victory over the league - leading Saints.

Frank Baunmann limited the Toledo Sox to three hits in pitching Louisville to its first victory in five games.

The Minneapolis Millers, in last place, scored all their eight runs in the eighth inning in upsetting Columbus.

Redlegs Clipped, 8-1, For Sixth Straight Loss; Adams Hurt

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs Friday night dropped their sixth straight game and eighth in 10 starts.

What made the loss even more humiliating was that it came at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates—a team almost unanimously picked for last place by the preseason experts, who also were given

Dick Cole's 400-foot triple. They added two more in the third frame, aided by a McMillan error although Roy swiftly followed through with a great play on a hit-and-run grounder.

The Rhinelanders didn't get to bonus baby Paul Pettit for a run until the sixth. Johnny Temple and Wally Post drew walks to open the inning and Greengrass drove in a run with a single.

Pittsburgh promptly came back with two more tallies in the home half. Pete Castiglione opened with the first of his two home runs. Cole then walked, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Carlos Bernier's double.

The Redlegs again cut the Bucco margin to two runs in the seventh on a two-base muff by Castiglione, a base on balls and singles by pinch-hitters Bob Borkowski and Willard Marshall before Johnny ing Cincinnati the nod as the most improved ball club since 1952.

Except for Jim Greengrass, who hit three for four to up his average to .368, the Redlegs had a thoroughly miserable time of it before dropping an 8-3 decision to the Bucs.

Bobby Adams, the Cincinnati third baseman who had been hitting .314, pulled a leg muscle in the third inning and may be out for a few days.

The Bucs got to lefty Harry Perkowski early. Eddie Fitz Gerald singled with two out in the second inning and jogged home on Ted Kluszewski to foul out.

The Pirates wrappd up the game in the eighth with three runs of reliefer Frank Smith, two of them unearned. Castiglione opened with his scond homer and, after Cole singled and Hetki reached first on a fielder's choic, Smith uncorked a wild pitch and catcher Hank Foiles, after recovering the ball, threw wild past third.

place. Hugh Kinnamon tied for fifth in the event.

The local 880 relay team set a new record in their event. Composed of Ballinger, King, Jack Garver and Dick Burtch, the squad completed its race in 1:35. Mortland of Arlington finished strong in the 440-yard dash to edge Roger Payne of Delaware with a time of 52.6 for a new stadium mark. Jack Andrews and Larry Clinger tied for fifth with 54 seconds to give the Prexies another five points.

Rucker came back to post a new mark in the 180-mark low hurdles at 20 seconds flat to shatter the former mark, 20. He held the former stadium mark. Doug Bibler finished fifth in the finals of that event.

In the 880-yard run Worthington scored first and second with Cox winning and Blackburn coming in second. Bill Whittington fished strong to take third place for Marion.

Harding scored 10 points in the 200-yard dash, as steadily improving sophomores, Gary Ballinger and Chet King swept the top two places. Ballinger won with 22.6 and King ran 22.8.

The mile relay was a thriller as Upper Arlington broke its own stadium record with a time of 3:38.8, narrowly beating Marion who broke the school record and had a couple of bad baton passes, running 3:39 flat. Painesville was a close third with 3:39.8.

Waldo School Awards Cage, Grid Letters

Twenty-seven awards were presented by Coach William Agler at the annual Waldo High School athletic banquet Thursday night at the Marion Hotel.

Guest speaker was C. D. Pilkington, a former Waldo School superintendent, who now is associated with the Avenue Lumber Co.

Football awards went to Wayne Yake, Don McKenzie, Don Schultz, Keith Augenstein, Rex Henry, Dale Yake, Stan Yake and David Noe.

Varsity basketball awards were presented to Donald Yake, Wayne Yake, George Yake, Donald Schultz and Donald McKenzie. Reserve awards were received by Delano Klingel, Bob Smith, Rex Henry, David Noe, Martin Augenstein, Stan Yake and Dale Yake.

Bud Meyer, basketball manager, and Ralph Wick, football manager, along with Ray Klingel, timekeeper, also received awards.

Marilyn Rengert, Marilyn Borkosky, Marilyn Neville and Joyce Shoaf received cheerleading awards.

D. E. McKinney, Waldo School superintendent, was toastmaster. Waldo won the county league basketball title the past season. It makes its debut in the Double M Football League next season after playing a few games this past season.

Wins on Three Tainted Markers

Two runs in the first inning were enough for Washington Court House Friday afternoon at Grandview in defeating Harding's Presidents, 3-1, in their first action in the district baseball tournament.

John McKinstry, Harding mound ace, was the victim of apparent pre-game jitters. In the first frame he walked four men and hit an other before finding his control. Both runs were forced home before McKinstry settled down to strike out the side. He was in control of the game from that point. He struck out nine and walked five.

The Prexies managed to put runners on base every inning but were never able to reach the opposing hurler, Robinette, in the clutch. Eleven Harding runners died on the bases. Robinette gave up seven free passes.

The winners' final tally in the sixth inning also was tainted. A single and a walk put runners on and the run came in when a double play ball was thrown over the first baseman's head.

Harding threatened in the fourth when they loaded the bases. However, only one run was scored and the verdict was clinched. Three walks and a fielder's choice accounted for the Harding run.

The Prexies travel to Galion Monday and Tuesday will be host to Lima Central. They are scheduled to travel to Mansfield Thursday for a make-up game.

Jones Seeks Chance To Even Saxton Score

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, all even with Jimmy Herring after reversing a 1952 decision, now wants to square accounts with Johnny Saxton.

"This is one I wanted," said Jones Friday night after winning a unanimous 10-round decision over Herring in a nationally televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena. "Now I want Saxton."

Jones floored Herring for an eight count with a right in the second. He shook him up again in the sixth when Herring staggered but didn't drop. Jones was down himself for a no-count knockdown in the fifth. At first Referee Al Berl called it a slip but changed his mind between rounds.

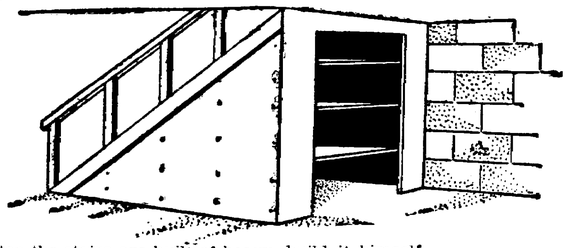
Cellar Stairs Storage Space

All modern or semi-modern houses with basements have stairs leading to that area. Nine times out of ten the stairs are built of heavy, rough planks, and they offer the perfect frame for a roomy closet or storage space. For a very few dollars in cash and three or four hours time, the homeowner can build it himself.



The work involved starts with laying two 2x4s on the floor directly beneath the carriage or the slanting side pieces of the stair.

INSERT CUT HERE . . . .

The next step consists of erecting 2x4 wall studs which rest on the floor pieces and run up to and under the stringers. Three or four of these are enough on each side of the closet. The final step consists of sheathing over the studs with plywood or composition board and nailing it into the studs as illustrated. The opening into the closet may be the full width of the stairs or reduced by a foot or so on each side as shown. The matter of a door is optional.

There are scores of uses for such an enclosure in the average house. Some are used as a shelved spaces for jars or preserves, some for liqour or wine closets, others for records which must be kept, and still others for luggage or other bulky equipment. Where there is the slightest dampness present in the basement, a floor should be installed by laying 2x4s inside between the walls, and flooring it over with boards or heavy plywood.

Shelves are easily arranged by nailing strips of 2x2 wood to the inner faces of the studs and laying ordinary shelving across them as illustrated. In connection with this phase of the work, it should be noted that the lower space should allow for headroom to accommodate large items such as bags and valises, and the upper shelves spaced to receive smaller and lighter articles.

Vandale Gets Life For Ohio Killing

WEST UNION, O. (AP) — Common Pleas Judge James W. Lang Jr., of Adams County, Friday sentenced William Vandale, 27, of Marietta, to life imprisonment for the murder of Sheriff Ben K. Perry last Jan. 12.

Vandale changed his plea of innocent of first degree murder to guilty of second degree murder. He also changed a plea of innocent to burglary at night-time to guilty. He will serve concurrent life sentences for both in Ohio Penitentiary.

In late March, Vandale's companion, Charles Eikleberry Jr., 25, of Antioch, received a life term from Lang for Perry's murder.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

PAINTING HOUSES at this time of the year rivals baseball as the national pastime. You probably have neighbors staging painting bees, with relatives lending a hand to give the old manse a new look. And around town you see the number of people having their houses freshened up with new paint—enough to make any man want to get in and pitch.

Well, this spring paint-up, clean-on, fix-up custom probably was promoted primarily by the paint manufacturers. If so, we ought to take our hats off to them. Maybe their bright idea doesn't give us as much fun wielding a paint brush with our pitching arm, but it certainly saves us a lot of hard earned cash by keeping the rain from rotting us out of house and home.

Giving the devil his due, you have to admit that the paint makers have greatly improved their product over the paint Grandpa used to use. Even though no paint will last forever, and the best will fail if they aren't put on right, modern house paints at least give far better service than paints gave half a century ago. This has been shown by government tests.

DON'T GET THE NOTION that the paint dealer is trying to "sell" you something when he urges you to spend a little more money for quality paint. The difference in price between what the trade calls "painters' lines" and top grade durable paints amounts to chicken feed. The "painter' lines" are manufactured to meet price competition. You can't expect them to come up to durable standards.

Figure it out for yourself. The biggest cost in painting your house is labor-the work of preparing the surface and applying the paint. While the whole job of painting your house will amount to several hundred dollars, the cost of the paint itself is only a fraction.

The average small house may call for eight or ten gallons of paint. The difference in cost between cheap paint and good quality paint runs no more than a dollar or two per gallon. It's certainly short-sighted to skimp on this difference when you figure the durability involved.

AS FOR LABOR COSTS, you know how times have changed. You ask and get more for your time than before World War II, and so do the painters. The only way you can save on this labor cost is to have the time and experience to do the job yourself in the right way at the right time.

Gambling on the weather is a big factor in a housepainting job. Wood siding and trim has to be dry. If you have rain, you ought to wait for at least a week of sunny weather before you start to paint. Then it is best not to start the job if the weather is damp, foggy or cold. The temperature shouldn't be below 50, say the experts.

Two or three days should be allowed for drying between coats in clear warm weather—more time in damp or cold weather. Yet more than two weeks between coats is not considered good practice, since excessive drying can be as bad as not enough drying.

MANY READERS have written to this department about paint failurees. You can't expect the best paint to hold when water gets behind it. Moisture in a wall, whether from leakage or indoor vapor pressure, will push any paint off in blisters.

This is especially noticeable in spring thaws after hard winters. Condensation blisters will be the most common on cold north walls of heated rooms—rarely appearing on unheated porch or garage walls.

Another form of paint failure is peeling, cracking or scaling, with no blisters. If this is not obviously caused by over-painting and appears only on south walls exposed to sunlight, it can be taken as a sign of poor quality paint.

SINCE GRANDPA'S DAY, there has been much evolution in the making of paint. From pure white lead pigments in raw linseed oil, paint went through a period of substituting zink oxide. This was done to combat the bad effects of hydrogen sulphide fumes. When it was carried too far, house paint became brittle.

Then titanium dioxide got the limelight because it takes a lot of diluting. But when it was overused, paint lacked durability.

Recently the paint makers have struck a happy medium by producing lead-zinc-titanium paints. The result is paint can breathe. As it wears, it gradually chalks away, cleaning itself. With proper application, it is free from the faults developed by previous types.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

PAINTING HOUSES at this time of the year rivals baseball as the national pastime. You probably have neighbors staging painting bees, with relatives lending a hand to give the old manse a new look. And around town you see the number of people having their houses freshened up with new paint—enough to make any man want to get in and pitch.

Well, this spring paint-up, clean-on, fix-up custom probably was promoted primarily by the paint manufacturers. If so, we ought to take our hats off to them. Maybe their bright idea doesn't give us as much fun wielding a paint brush with our pitching arm, but it certainly saves us a lot of hard earned cash by keeping the rain from rotting us out of house and home.

Giving the devil his due, you have to admit that the paint makers have greatly improved their product over the paint Grandpa used to use. Even though no paint will last forever, and the best will fail if they aren't put on right, modern house paints at least give far better service than paints gave half a century ago. This has been shown by government tests.

DON'T GET THE NOTION that the paint dealer is trying to "sell" you something when he urges you to spend a little more money for quality paint. The difference in price between what the trade calls "painters' lines" and top grade durable paints amounts to chicken feed. The "painter' lines" are manufactured to meet price competition. You can't expect them to come up to durable standards.

Figure it out for yourself. The biggest cost in painting your house is labor-the work of preparing the surface and applying the paint. While the whole job of painting your house will amount to several hundred dollars, the cost of the paint itself is only a fraction.

The average small house may call for eight or ten gallons of paint. The difference in cost between cheap paint and good quality paint runs no more than a dollar or two per gallon. It's certainly short-sighted to skimp on this difference when you figure the durability involved.

AS FOR LABOR COSTS, you know how times have changed. You ask and get more for your time than before World War II, and so do the painters. The only way you can save on this labor cost is to have the time and experience to do the job yourself in the right way at the right time.

22 Get Carnegie Heroism Medals

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Carnegie hero medals have been awarded nine men who saved a U. S. Air Force pilot from his burning jet plane in Alaska.

The men pulled pilot Donald C. Seiler, then 24, from the wreckage after his craft plunged into a wooded swamp near Anchorage Aug. 3, 1951. He recovered from multiple injuries.

In awarding the rescuers bronze medals yesterday, the Carnegie Hero Fund Commisison said the men braved gasoline fed flames and exploding machine gun bullets to reach Seiler.

The rescue party consisted of Fred Whitmire, 31, (no address); Walter H. Nagel, 32, Seattle, Wash, and the following from Anchorage: Daniel H. Parmenter, 52; Ward I. Gay, 40; Loyd M. Miller, 33; Herbert V. Enberg, 40; Joseph H. Paker, 48; Charles H. Stowell, 51, and Kennth Gerondale, 22.

In all, medals were given to 22 persons in 10 states and Alaska. Funds for the commission were left by the late steel master, Andrew Carnegie.

ONE OF HIS WISHES. Pfc. William Krobath enjoys the first of his two wishes—a cigar—at Freedom Village in Korea after being released by the Reds. The other wish, a banana split, he said he would get when he arrives home in Shamokin, Pa.

ATTORNEY DIES

CLEVELAND (AP) — Louis A. Bloomfield, 65, of Shaker Heights, a lawyer here for 38 years, died at St. Luke's Hospital Friday.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Covering Cracked Ceilings

Q: We intend re-doing our bedroom walls and ceiling which have wallpaper on them. The ceiling behind the paper looks to be in pretty bad shape. We wish to cover it but not with wallpaper. Friends informed us of a cloth that comes about four feet wide that is glued or pasted on. It comes unpainted or painted. It is supposed to hide cracks in the plaster ceilings and prevent the plaster from cracking further. Can you give us more information on this?

A: If the plaster in the ceiling has only fine cracks the painter cloth or canvas, which your friends undoubtedly have in mind, would make a satisfactory covering and prevent the appearance of cracks on the surface. If, however, the plaster has developed many long wide cracks I do not advise covering such a ceiling with the above fabric. A ceiling that is in such bad shape should be covered with gypsum wallboard (plasterboard). Should you decide to use a painters canvas, fill all cracks with spackle before application of the cloth. Wallpaper dealers generally carry this material in stock.

Porch Floor Covering

Q: I have a closed-in porch and want to put in a tile floor. I have been advised to use asphalt tile and not rubber tile. Which of the tiles would be best to use? The porch is of concrete.

A: Since the porch floor is of concrete laid on the ground, only asphalt tile should be used. Because of the possible dampness from the ground, rubber tile is not recommended.

Leaky Cellar

Q: In my home I have noticed, during heavy rains, there seems to be a leakage between the cellar floor and the cellar walls, although no crack is visible. The walls are of concrete, and there are a few damp spots on the walls. Can you help me in solving this problem short of pouring a new concrete floor?

A: If water does not seep through the body of the floor there is no reason why a new concrete floor should be put down. Where seepage occurs in the joint between the floor and walls it is necessary to cut a deep, fairly wide groove into the joint and after all loose particles have been brushed out pack with hot tar or an asphalt mastic. Instead of tar or asphalt, the joint can be filled with a fairly stiff but workable mixture of one part Portland cement and three parts of clean, coarse sand. Before a joint is filled, the inner surfaces must be well dampened and the new cement mortar patch should be kept damp for several days to prevent shrinkage. The damp spots in the wall can be eliminated by coating the walls with a cement base type of dampproof coating. It comes in powder form and is mixed with water.

AWARDED $5,000 DAMAGE

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Valparaiso, Ind. construction worker, Hubert Raus, was awarded $5,000 by a federal jury Friday in his $100,000 suit against the Ceramic Specialities Co. of East Liverpool and the Electroline Mfg. Co. of Cleveland. His lawyers charged the two firms manufactured a two-wire bracket insulator which broke while he was stringing a wire through it at his Indiana farm. He said he broke bones in both feet in a 30-foot fall.

Power Shovel Co. Reports Increase In Net Income

An increase in the net income for the first quarter of this year over the same period last year was noted in a report issued to the stockholders of the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Net income for the first three months of this year, after all the charges including depreciation and estimated federal income and excess profits taxes, amounted to $395.243 as compared with $267,926 for the first quarter of 1952.

Sales for the first quarter of 1953 are listed as $7,913,238 in comparison with $8, 007,340 for the same period last year.

UNIONS QUIT JOBS

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O. (AP)—Construction work was virtually halted in this area today by a labor holiday after contracts expired between three AFL building and trade unions and the Tuscarawas County Contractors Association. Bricklayers, carpenters and laborers are asking wage boosts from 25 to 29½ cents hourly. Contractors say they can't afford to pay any more. Negotiations are expected to resume soon.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

CORNEL WILDE PITS all his might against a deadly boa constrictor during his search for the "Treasure of the Golden Condor," new technicolor adventure epic which will be one attraction of a double feature playing Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

"What Price Glory" At South Drive-In

"What Price Glory," starring James Cagney, Corinne Calvet and Dan Dailey, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater.

It gives an account of soldiers who fail to lose their identity behind the olive drab uniforms which turned them into a fighting machine during World War I, and of the fears, hopes and desires of these individuals, and of the romance which some managed to find amid the war.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday is "For Heaven's Sake," a comedy starring Clifton Webb, Joan Bennett, Robert Cummings and Edmund Gwenn.

The film has Webb and Gwenn cast as angels sent to rescue the happiness of a marriage between a theatrical producer and his actress wife.

Broderick Crawford and Claire Trevor are starred in "Stop, You're Killing Me," a gangster comedy which will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

It is the story of Remy Marko, gangland overlord who has desires to go straight because of his devoted wife and daughter. At a summer resort, they become involved with a gang of bandits and four are murdered.

Double Feature On Bill at Ohio Theater

A double feature, "Treasure of the Golden Condor," technicolor adventure drama starring Cornel Wilde and Constance Smith, and "The Atomic Monster" starring Lon Chaney Jr., Lionel Atwill, Anne Nagel, Frank Albertson and Samuel S. Hinds, will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

Set in the late 18th Century in the dangerous land of the Mayas, "Treasure of the Golden Condor" contrasts the polished manners of French court life with the primitive existence of a Guatemalan jungle. Cornel Wilde, a young and adventuresome Frenchman, forced to flee his native land, joins Scotsman Finlay Currie, possessor of a treasure map, and his lovely daughter, played by Constance Smith, in a search for a fabulous hidden cache.

After a perilous journey they arrive at a time-worn jade-and-emerald city. Before and after they locate the treasure, they share many adventures.

"The Atomic Monster" tells what happens when a scientific genius, attempting to prove a theory that human life can be motivated and controlled by electricity, transforms a normal human being into a super-charged monster.

Starting Thursday will be a musical in technicolor, "By the Light of the Silvery Moon" starring Doris Day and Gordon MacRae.

The film centers about the activities of the Winfield family, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield who are confronted with the problems of a pretty daughter, her fiance whose strange ideas about marriage almost make strangers of the lovers, and the antics of a precocious kid brother.

Randolph Scott In Movie at Marion

"Hangman's Knot" starring Randolph Scott with Donna Reed and Claude Jarman Jr., and "Dalton's Women," will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

In the former, Scott portrays Major Matt Stewart of the Confederate Army, who leads a bloody raid on Union forces in Nevada territory to capture badly-needed gold bullion. When he learns that the Civil War has ended, he decides to take the gold south to help in the rehabilitation of his defeated homeland, but renegade vigilantes, hiding their lust for gold under their ideas of law and order, get after the Major.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Cripple Creek" and "Montana Territory." The former stars George Montgomery, and heading the cast in the latter are Lon McCallister, Wanda Hendrix and Preston Foster.

In the latter, McCallister is seen as a young adventurer who witnesses two murders and a holdup in the Montana gold country. Pursued by the killers, he finds sanctuary near a stagecoach relay station.

The attractions Thursday through Saturday will be "Eyes of Texas" and "Winning of the West." Gene Autry, the star of the latter, is cast as a Territorial Ranger who is ordered to protect a crusading frontier publisher out to destroy a murder ring which uses Indian raids as a cloak for its evil activities.

Bums Grab Lead

Dodgers Up to Old Trick, Fattening Averages on Second Division Clubs; White Sox Defeat Yankees, 6-5

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sportswriter

Shades of '52. Those nasty Brooklyn bums are fattening up on the pore little second division teams again.

The terrors of Flatbush won the National League pennant last year by feasting on the last four teams. And today, after a 10 day absence, they're back in first place after a strict diet of the lower placed teams.

The Dodgers won their fourth straight last night, a 6-5 uphill battle with the fifth place Chicago Cubs. Prior to that they had won three straight from the last place Cincinnai Reds. And of their earlier victories three came over the seventh place New York Giants and three over the sixth place Pittsburgh Pirates.

On their only ventures against first division opposition, the Bums got spanked three times running by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Last year Brooklyn won 67 games and lost only 20 against the four second division clubs. It had a poor 29-37 record with the three other first division outfits.

Last night's Brooklyn star was Pee Wee Reese who connected with a Dutch Leonard knuckleball in the eighth inning and drilled it into the lower leftfield seats at Ebbets Field with a runner on base.

Russ Meyer picked up the Brooklyn victory which, combined with a 5-2 loss by the Phillies to Milwaukee, put the Dodgers in first place.

In other National League action the Pittsburgh Pirates won their third in a row at the expense of Cincinnati, 8-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals edged New York, 3-2.

The Boston Red Sox pasted the first 1953 defeat on Cleveland's Bob Lemon by an 8-2 count. Lemon had won three. Detroit broke a six game losing streak at the expense of Philadelphia, 7-3. Washington nipped St. Louis, 6-5, as relief pitcher Sonny Dixon struck out the last three Brownies with the bases loaded. The Chicago White Sox weathered a series of late New York rallies to beat the Yankees, 6-5, in a three hour struggle at Chicago.

Boston's victory at Cleveland was the fourth in a row for the fuzy faced Sox and moved them in to fourth place.

The Athletics poked three of Ned Garver's flutterballs into the Briggs Stadium seats but each of the drives—by Eddie Joost, Gus Zernial and Cass Michaels—came with the bases empty. The victory was the first this year for Garver who had lost three.

Vic Wertz homered with two men aboard as St. Louis scored four times in the first inning against Washington. But Wertz was one of the three Brownies who fanned with the bases loaded and St. Louis trailing by a run in the ninth.

Trailing 5-1 after six innings the Yankees rallied for a pair of runs in the seventh, two more in the eighth and filled the bases with one out in the ninth before Saul Rogovin came in to strike out Yogi Berra and get Billy Martin on a sinking liner to right field.

Paul Pettit, Pittsburgh's $100.000 bonus baby of 1950, paid his first major league dividend as he got credit for the victory over Cincinnati. He needed help from Johnny Hetki in the seventh and Murry Dickson came on in the ninth but it was Pettit's game, his first decision. Pete Castiglione homered twice for the Pirates.

The fast fading Phillies, who now have lost four and tied one in their last five starts, were held at bay by righthander Jim Wilson who contributed a home run to the 10-hit Milwaukee attack. Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko also homered for the Braves.

The Cardinals continued their unbeaten tour of the East at the expense of Dave Koslo. The Giants had one bad inning, the third, when the Red Birds put together four singles after two were out to score three runs—all Gerry Staley needed to register his second victory. The New York runs came on a second inning homer by Al Dark.

Speedway To Open Season Sunday

All is in readiness for the opening of the 1953 stock car racing season at the Marion Speedway Sunday afternoon. After three successive postponements, Cecil Addams, promoter, said this morning he expected at least 50 cars by race time. Drivers from Bucyrus, Kenton, Fremont, Cleveland, Findlay, Delaware and Upper Sandusky have notified the promoter they will be here. About 25 local drivers are expected to swell the field for the eight race program, highlighted by the 30-lap feature.

Workmen have been correcting a few of the faults in the track and clear skies Friday and today have helped to get the track in lightning fast condition.

Time trials get under way at 1 p.m. and the races at 2:30. The Speedway is located just north of Marion, off route 23.

role, that of a romantic cobbler torn between his love of telling fairy-tales and his romantic hopes of rescuing a glamorous ballerina from what he considers a stony-hearted and cruel husband.

The film turns the clock back 100 years to the Denmark of the 1830's with its colorful markets, its proud sailing vessels, its formal Royal Ballet, its imaginative people and its children. Also, eight new Frank Loesser songs and four ballets are introduced.

Starting Friday will be the romantic adventure drama, "Never Let Me Go," co-starring Clark Gable and Gene Tierney.

It unfolds the story of an American correspondent in Russia who falls in love with and marries a Russian ballet dancer. However, when he attempts to take his wife out of the country the people behind the Iron Curtain rise up and he is forced to leave the Russian alone.

There follows his adventure in rescuing his young bride, a plot entailing a perilous sea voyage in a small boat and a battle of wits with the Russian spy system.

Goatee Yanked By— Well, Guess Who

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UP) — Meliton Serrato was fined $19 for an unprovoked attack on a carefully groomed goatee belonging to Samuel Seigle of New York City.

Seigle told magistrate Jules Forstein that Serrato grabbed his goatee while he was talking on a phone in a bus terminal here and he had to hang up to defend his whiskers.

Forstein fined Serrato for disorderly conduct after Seigle told him he could not appear to prosecute an assault and battery charge.

Serrato operates a barber shop in Maple Shade, N.J.

NIGHT Holstein Heifer AUCTION
At my farm, half way between Marysville and Delaware, Ohio, on U. S. 36
Wednesday, May 6
Starting promptly at 7:30 P.M.
Lunch Served
75 Open and Bred Heifers 75
15 Fresh and Close-up Cows, Registered and Grade Canadian Holsteins
The present day cost of producing milk requires a great deal of dairying efficiency to insure a profit, but most of all, it demands a better than average dairy animal. With the long hours and painstaking care that make a good dairy farm, only the highest quality heifers and cows should be good enough, even for the average farmer. We sincerely believe that we have assembled the kind of heifers and cows that will meet these qualifications. The majority of the offering have been selected from some of the finest herds in Canada, and many of them are sired by the outstanding Canadian unit bulls, that the average dairy farmer would never be able to own. There are approximately 40 open heifers, just right to turn on grass, 30 bred heifers, that will freshen in the fall, and the balance are fresh and close-up cows.
Many heifers bred and sired by sons of Marksman and Sovereign.
75% of these heifers and cows are vaccinated.
Several outstanding prospects for 4-H and FHA projects.
Health papers from the state laboratory, and Vaccination certificates will be furnished.

DON'T BE SCARED, ZERO—THIS ROAD IS KINDA SCARY LOOKIN', BUT THAT'S 'CAUSE IT'S SCARY WEATHER, AN' THE POOR ROAD IS JUST AS WET AN' MUDDY AS YOU AN' ME IS.
I'LL BETYA IF THE SUN WAS SHININ' WE'D SAY, "AIN'T THIS THE LOVELIEST ROAD YOU EVER SAW?"
ANYHOW, WE'RE TERRIBLE LUCKY IT'S MAYTIME AN' THAT IT AIN'T DECEMBER-TIME— THAT WOULD BE JUST AWFUL.
I SEE A HOUSE—OR SOMETHIN'.
DIDN'T I TELL YA WE WAS LUCKY? THIS IS THE ONLY ROOM IN THE HOUSE THAT DON'T LEAK—NO MATTER HOW HARD IT'S RAININ' OUTSIDE, WE'LL BE DRY AN' COZY INSIDE—

"The belief was that they were going east from Cuyaba," he said, "but actually they were heading north."

Fawcett said the information was withheld at the request of the elder Fawcett who told his family:

"If we do not come out, I don't want rescue parties to come in looking for us. It's too risky. If,

Matto Grosso 27 years ago, plans an expedition into the Brazilian jungle next year to seek a clue to their fate.

Colonel Fawcett, his son, Jack, and Raleigh Rimell, a boyhood friend of the Fawcett sons, set out into the unexplored Matto Grosso in search of a lost civilization. Nothing was ever heard from them. There have been various unconfirmed reports that they were captured and killed by the Kalapalos Indians.

Brian Fawcett has now decided to make another search on the slender chance that his brother may still be alive, saying:

"I will not be happy until I have tried to find my brother. He was young, adaptable, and in good condition when he and my father and Rimell vanished in the jungle in 1925, and there is just a 100-to-one chance that he may have survived. He would be about 50 now."

Fawcett said that for years his family had deliberately withheld information about the true destination of the party which aimed to discover the lost gold and diamond mines of Morebeca.

with all my experience, we cannot make it, there is not much hope for others. That is the reason why I am not telling exactly where we are going."

Eighteen months ago skeletal remains found in the area inhabited by the Kalapalos Indians and purporting to be those of Colonel Fawcett were brought to Britain for examination. Three leading members of the Royal Anthropological Institute definitely established the bones were not those of Colonel Fawcett, and it was doubted they were the bones of any white man.

Brian Fawcett for many years was chief of the mechanical department of the Central Railway of Peru but retired in 1947. He now lives in Carlisle where he works as an illustrator and writer, specializing in engineering and South American subjects.
